2,000 Pupils Affected

7 Beaver Local Schools Closed By Power Failure

More Snow Due Today And Tonight

Temperature Climbs From 3 Below Mark Hit Sunday Morning

The East Liverpool district emerged from the deep freeze today—at least temporarily—after low temperature readings Sunday morning that ranged from 3 below to 3 above, but heavy drifts piled up over the weekend as a result of high winds and new snow.

All seven buildings in the Beaver Local School District were closed today, affecting 2,000 pupils, because of damage to the heating systems at the high school and the new elementary buildings as a result of a power failure Saturday night.

All other area schools reopened on schedule this morning after the Thanksgiving vacation. Supt. Ralph W. Betts' office and the office of County Supt. J. L. McBride at Lisbon reported no snags resulting from the weather—aside from the Beaver Local closing. Hancock County schools also were operating normally.

The Ohio weatherman said light snow is expected again, beginning late this afternoon. The high temperature today will range between 30 and 34 degrees and the low tonight will hit 12-18, he said.

It will be cloudy and colder tonight and Tuesday and a few snow flurries are expected near Lake Erie tomorrow, the forecaster said.

Despite the break in the weather, the tri-state district still slid and stumbled through an accumulation of nearly a foot of snow as a result of a prolonged storm Friday that was followed by high winds and a briefly heavy snow Saturday night. It was the heavy gusts Saturday night, accompanied by blinding snow, that led to drifting of many secondary roads in rural regions.

Streets and highways throughout the area still were covered with a thick layer of hard-packed snow that made driving hazardous. However, motorists were able to negotiate main federal and state highways and heavily used city streets with little difficulty.

Dam 8 at Newell recorded a weekend low of 3 above zero at 7 a. m. Sunday. At the same time, a reading of 3 below was shown on the thermometer of Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport.

At Dam 8, the mercury rose to a high of 22 Sunday at 2 p. m. The overnight low of 14 was registered at 1 this morning. Then the mercury started to rise about a degree an hour.

The overnight low at Millport was 5 above, recorded at about 6 this morning. The mercury skidded to 9 above at Millport shortly before last midnight.

Copeland reported heavy drifting in the Millport area, particularly on north-south roads.

Dedication of the first of a three-unit building project at the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church, scheduled Sunday, was postponed because of the weather. The Rev. Marven O. Bowman Jr., pastor, said the new date will be announced later.

The Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church called off its Sunday night service and youth meeting because of the weather.

Both the Rochester and the Carnegie Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police reported icy road conditions today in their areas. The Rochester Barracks covers Routes 18, 68, 51 and 88 and the Carnegie Barracks covers Routes 30 and 22.

In the Beaver Local school systems, automatic controls for the stokers and circulating pumps at the new schools were shut off in the power failure and when all the units turned on with restoration

Towers for the bridge are 215 feet high. (UPI Telephoto)

U.S. Pledges Again To Help West Berlin

Reassurance Given After Eisenhower And Dulles Confer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Communist-threatened West Berlin has a new pledge from President Eisenhower that its freedom will be safeguarded by the United States.

The pledge that the United States intends to meet that responsibility, shared by Britain and France, was reaffirmed by the President after he and Secretary of State Dulles discussed the Berlin situation at an hourlong conference Sunday.

They talked at the Augusta National Golf Club as Eisenhower made plans to end his working vacation Tuesday and fly back to Washington. His 13-day visit started Nov. 20.

Back in the capital the President will face the task of completing the legislative program and the federal budget he will send to the new Congress in January.

Eisenhower and Dulles almost certainly discussed countermeasures the Western Allies plan to take to keep the Soviet Union from dominating West Berlin. But they kept mum afterward about the strategy.

In a brief statement after the meeting Dulles said: "The President reiterated our government's firm purpose that the United States will not enter into any arrangement or embark on any course of conduct which would have the effect of abandoning the responsibilities which the United States, with Great Britain and France, has formally assumed for the freedom and security of the people of West Berlin."

Two Men, Youth Die In Barberton Area Fire

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—Two elderly men and a 19-year-old youth died today in a fire that destroyed four one-room houses near the Ohio Canal here.

They were identified as John Cochran, 78; Wheeler Ward, 79, and Roosevelt Dobbs, 19.

Police said the three were asleep in the house where the fire broke out. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

The other three houses were occupied by 16 persons—including 10 children—who escaped injury.

Soviet Called Well Ahead On Nuclear Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union already is flying a nuclear-powered bomber, the magazine Aviation Week reports. It says the United States is at least four years behind the Soviet Union in this respect.

Officials of the U.S. Air Force and Defense Department withheld comment on the report.

The magazine said the Soviet bomber was completed six months ago and has been flying in the Moscow area for at least two months. Its test flights there have been observed by observers from both Communist and non-Communist coutries, the magazine added.

The nuclear-powered plane is a military prototype, not just a conventional plane fitted with an experimental nuclear power plant for test purposes, the report said.

Aviation Week said the Soviet plane is powered with two nuclear engines and two conventional jet engines. Speeds were estimated at just above or below the speed of sound.

The magazine said the plane weighs 300,000 pounds, is 195 feet long and has a wingspread of 78 feet.

A major advantage of a nuclear-powered plane is that it might be flown for days or weeks without refueling.

Early Meeting Looms On West Berlin Issue

LONDON (AP)—Foreign ministers of the Big Three Western Allies and West Germany were reported agreed today in principle on an early meeting to coordinate a policy on the Soviet Union's threat to Berlin.

Diplomatic officials said they may arrange to have their talks in Paris.

Officials of the four powers are studying the Soviet note which last week proposed that West Berlin be turned into a free city. Present thinking among the Western Allies is that they should turn down the Soviet proposal and offer to consider Berlin's future only in the wider context of a German peace settlement.

Youngstown Man Due Role In Racket Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—At least two Ohioans will be called to testify during four weeks of public hearings about alleged racketeer infiltration of the coin machine business in Ohio and six other states.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of a special Senate committee on improper activities in the labor-management field, said in a statement that Frank Cammarata of Youngstown and Harry Friedman of Cleveland will be witnesses.

French Reds Take Another Blow At Polls

Right Wingers With De Gaulle Banners Sweep To Victory

PARIS (AP) — Right-wingers waving the banner of Premier Charles de Gaulle flattened the Communists, badly trimmed more moderate parties and swept to firm control of the new French National Assembly today.

The Communists held 22.9 per cent of the popular vote but captured only 10 of the 149 seats they had held in the last National Assembly in the man-to-man runoff elections in France Sunday.

Among the losers was the fiery Communist mouthpiece and organizer Jacques Duclos.

Toppled like shooting gallery ducks were many of the ex-premiers, ministers and wheelhorses of the center parties—among them former Radical Premier Edgar Faure, Socialist disarmament negotiator Jules Moch, former Socialist Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, former Socialist Algerian administrator Robert Lacoste and former Justice Minister Francois Mitterand.

Dark-browed Jacques Soustelle became the man to watch in the new Fifth Republic. It was Soustelle who eluded police, escaped to Algeria and gave political direction to the rightist movement that crumpled the Fourth Republic last May.

His Union for a New Republic (UNR) captured 32.1 per cent of the vote and 188 of the 465 seats from European France. Not since 1946, when Communists elected 174 deputies, has a party held such a large block of seats.

The conservative votes of 120 independent and peasant deputies, combined with the UNR's 188, gave the rightists a clear majority.

In addition, the 71 deputies being elected from Algeria and the Sahara were expected to support Soustelle.

The Socialists dropped from 95 seats in the old Assembly to 40, the Catholic Popular Republicans (MRP) from 74 to 44.

The once-strong Radical Socialists, a slightly right of center group, declined from 71 to 26 and even this remnant was split into feuding factions. One of the

Five Placed On Trial In Temple Dynamiting

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Five men charged with dynamiting a Jewish temple in Atlanta are scheduled to go on trial in Fulton Superior Court today.

The five are Wallace H. Allen, George Allen Bright, Kenneth Chester Griffin, Robert and Richard Bowling. They have been held in jail without bond since their arrest.

The five men were indicted on charges of participating in the dynamiting of the temple Oct. 12. The blast caused damage estimated at $200,000. The structure was empty at the time.

Delay Granted In Trial Slated For Burglary

Louis Stuttler's Case Listed To Begin Next Monday At Lisbon

Retrial of Ira Cunningham and Robert Carroll, ex-policeman charged with a 1952 burglary of the Smith & Phillips Co., was postponed today at Lisbon because Cunningham is hospitalized at Wheeling and unable to appear.

A motion for the continuance was filed this morning by attorneys for Cunningham, who was admitted Friday night to Ohio Valley General Hospital at Wheeling under the care of a neurologist.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said this morning the next police trial will begin Monday for Louis Stuttler, former officer who is charged with a 1954 burglary at the Burbick Hardware store.

Cunningham was convicted Nov. 21, along with Jerry Raimond, ex-special officer, of a 1952 entering of the hardware store, while Carroll was acquitted on the same charge.

The recalled September Grand Jury Tuesday returned an indictment against Cunningham for attempting to bribe a prospective juror in the trial. Cunningham was unable to testify before the Grand Jury because he had collapsed on the street at Steubenville Monday and was convalescing at home.

Atty. Hugo Alexander said Friday Cunningham has suffered a lapse of memory regarding events of the last few weeks. A motion was filed this morning by Atty. Sam Fekett of Youngstown, co-counsel with Alexander for Cunningham, along with an affidavit from Dr. Arthur Osterman of Wheeling, stating the defendant "is incapacitated due to illness."

The physician's statement also said he could not say with certainty when his patient could appear for any trial.

The case which was to begin today was a retrial of a case which ended Oct. 31 when a Common Pleas Court jury was unable to reach a verdict.

Late Closing Scheduled For City Stores Tonight

Continuing with an extended schedule of hours for Christmas shopping, East Liverpool stores will be open until 8:30 tonight.

The stores will be open late each Monday and Thursday until Christmas. Late closings also are scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 20, and Tuesday, Dec. 23.

Skipping their usual mid-week half-holiday, the stores also will be open until 5 p. m. each Wednesday in December.

Rogers Loss $15,000

4 Escape Flames As Home's Razed

ROGERS — The 8-room frame home of the Shafer family was leveled in a $15,000 fire which swept the Highland Ave. structure Sunday afternoon about 3, forcing the two brothers and two sisters into sub-freezing temperatures.

Charles Shafer, who is ill, and Miss Sadie Shafer, unable to walk in the deep snow, had to be carried from the home by firemen. Walter Shafer and Miss Susan Shafer also escaped injury.

The four smelled smoke while eating popcorn they had popped about 2:45. They found the blaze in the south wall of the kitchen.

Firemen from Rogers, Negley, New Waterford and Lisbon, along with the Civil Defense tanker from Lisbon, battled the blaze. Only two chairs and a couch were reported saved from the flames. All other clothing and furniture, including antiques, were lost.

Firemen prevented the fire from spreading to the nearby home of Lewis Dickey.

The family was taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. Rena Campbell of Cannellton in Beaver County. The loss is partially covered by insurance, authorities said.

Machinists' Peace Seen

Break Looms In Disputes Which Hamper Air Travel

By The Associated Press

Air travelers had cause for optimism today. Quick settlement of a 10-day-old machinists' strike against Trans World Airlines, one of two major lines immobiled by labor disputes, was expected.

Whether the optimism would grow or take a sour turn depended upon developments in Kansas City and New York City.

At a dinner hour recess of negotiations in Kansas City Sunday night, Cliff Miller, chairman of District 142, International Assn. of Machinists, said: "It's not a question of 'if' in getting this thing settled any more. It's a question of how soon."

The bargaining session ended at midnight and was scheduled to resume today. The machinists struck TWA last Nov. 21.

Eastern Air Lines, struck by the machinists and the Flight Engineers International Assn. last Monday, offered to submit many of its differences with the engineers to arbitration. The proposal was rejected.

Representatives of two other carriers, American Airlines and Pan American World Airways, appear in court in New York City today in labor disputes.

American, the nation's biggest airline, is seeking to make permanent a temporary federal injunction against a strike by the Air Line Pilots Assn.

Pan American is seeking an injunction in State Supreme Court forbidding its employes to refuse to work overtime. The workers, 8,000 ground and flight service employes are members of the Transport Workers Union.

A weeklong strike of 30-odd stewardesses continued against the Lake Central Airlines. Negotiators failed to reach agreement in Indianapolis Sunday. The line serves Ohio, Indiana, and parts of Pennsylvania, Illinois and Michigan.

The snarled airline situation jammed trains, buses and planes of operating airlines as the long Thanksgiving weekend closed and the back-to-school-or-home movement reached a peak.

The Eastern Air Lines arbitration proposal was made by Eddie Rickenbacker, chairman of the board, in a telegram to Jack Robertson, president of the Flight Engineers.

Rickenbacker said that in view of a recent court decision clarifying what issues can be negotiated, the airline "proposes that all remaining lawful issues in dispute be submitted to arbitration by a neutral referee."

In reply, Robertson declared: "We aren't going to enter into any arbitration — we've tried this before without success."

A U.S. District Court has ruled in Miami that Eastern has a right to require its flight engineers on jet planes to take basic pilot training. The union plans an appeal.

In Kansas City, Mo., Leveretti Edwards, National Mediation Board chairman, said a major share of contract terms had been agreed upon in writing by representatives of TWA and the machinists' union.

Crash Of Sled And Car Hurts Glenmoor Boy

Grimms Bridge Area Motorist Hurt When Auto Leaves Road

A Grimm's Bridge area man was injured when his car skidded over an embankment near his home Sunday night and a Glenmoor Youngster was hurt when struck by a car while sledding, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported. Two other area mishaps were reported.

William Crabtree, 48, of Grimm's Bridge Rd. is in "good" condition at City Hospital with rib and mouth injuries suffered Sunday night when his car went over the embankment and overturned.

Officers said Crabtree, an employe of Crucible Steel Co. at Midland, was headed north about a half mile from the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. when he lost control on the snow-slick roadway and went down the hillside about 9:20 p. m.

George Jones, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jones of Wyoming Ave., Glenmoor, is in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital with a fractured left arm received when struck by a car yesterday afternoon.

Officers said the youth's sled came out of Princeton Ave. into the path of the car driven by George Barton, 33, of 681 Spring Grove Ave., who was headed west on the Y. and O. Rd. The mishap occurred about 4:07 p. m.

Jack Gloeckner, 21, of 1200 Avondale St. was cited yesterday morning on the East Liverpool-Wellsville super road following a collision between his wrecker and a car driven by Carl Hawk, 27, of Parma.

The patrol said Gloeckner, headed south, made a left turn from the right lane of the two-lane roadway just as Hawk attempted to pass. Gloeckner was fined $10 and costs this morning by Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw on a charge of reckless operation.

The collision occurred about a mile north of Wellsville.

Esther Whitacre, 33, of 125 S. Market St., Lisbon, was cited after her car skidded into an oncoming auto yesterday afternoon on Route 45 about two miles north of Lisbon.

Officers said a vehicle swerved in front of the woman, and she veered her car to avoid a collision, skidding into the approaching auto driven by Ned Dowd, 54, of Lisbon R. D. 3. She was charged with driving left of center.

ROGERS — The 8-room frame home of the Shafer family was leveled in a $15,000 fire which swept the Highland Ave. structure Sunday afternoon about 3, forcing the two brothers and two sisters into sub-freezing temperatures.

Charles Shafer, who is ill, and Miss Sadie Shafer, unable to walk in the deep snow, had to be carried from the home by firemen. Walter Shafer and Miss Susan Shafer also escaped injury.

The four smelled smoke while eating popcorn they had popped about 2:45. They found the blaze in the south wall of the kitchen.

Firemen from Rogers, Negley, New Waterford and Lisbon, along with the Civil Defense tanker from Lisbon, battled the blaze. Only two chairs and a couch were reported saved from the flames. All other clothing and furniture, including antiques, were lost.

Firemen prevented the fire from spreading to the nearby home of Lewis Dickey.

The family was taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. Rena Campbell of Cannellton in Beaver County. The loss is partially covered by insurance, authorities said.

Machinists' Peace Seen

Break Looms In Disputes Which Hamper Air Travel

By The Associated Press

Air travelers had cause for optimism today. Quick settlement of a 10-day-old machinists' strike against Trans World Airlines, one of two major lines immobiled by labor disputes, was expected.

Whether the optimism would grow or take a sour turn depended upon developments in Kansas City and New York City.

At a dinner hour recess of negotiations in Kansas City Sunday night, Cliff Miller, chairman of District 142, International Assn. of Machinists, said: "It's not a question of 'if' in getting this thing settled any more. It's a question of how soon."

The bargaining session ended at midnight and was scheduled to resume today. The machinists struck TWA last Nov. 21.

Eastern Air Lines, struck by the machinists and the Flight Engineers International Assn. last Monday, offered to submit many of its differences with the engineers to arbitration. The proposal was rejected.

Representatives of two other carriers, American Airlines and Pan American World Airways, appear in court in New York City today in labor disputes.

American, the nation's biggest airline, is seeking to make permanent a temporary federal injunction against a strike by the Air Line Pilots Assn.

Pan American is seeking an injunction in State Supreme Court forbidding its employes to refuse to work overtime. The workers, 8,000 ground and flight service employes are members of the Transport Workers Union.

A weeklong strike of 30-odd stewardesses continued against the Lake Central Airlines. Negotiators failed to reach agreement in Indianapolis Sunday. The line serves Ohio, Indiana, and parts of Pennsylvania, Illinois and Michigan.

The snarled airline situation jammed trains, buses and planes of operating airlines as the long Thanksgiving weekend closed and the back-to-school-or-home movement reached a peak.

The Eastern Air Lines arbitration proposal was made by Eddie Rickenbacker, chairman of the board, in a telegram to Jack Robertson, president of the Flight Engineers.

Rickenbacker said that in view of a recent court decision clarifying what issues can be negotiated, the airline "proposes that all remaining lawful issues in dispute be submitted to arbitration by a neutral referee."

In reply, Robertson declared: "We aren't going to enter into any arbitration — we've tried this before without success."

A U.S. District Court has ruled in Miami that Eastern has a right to require its flight engineers on jet planes to take basic pilot training. The union plans an appeal.

In Kansas City, Mo., Leveretti Edwards, National Mediation Board chairman, said a major share of contract terms had been agreed upon in writing by representatives of TWA and the machinists' union.

Crash Of Sled And Car Hurts Glenmoor Boy

Grimms Bridge Area Motorist Hurt When Auto Leaves Road

A Grimm's Bridge area man was injured when his car skidded over an embankment near his home Sunday night and a Glenmoor Youngster was hurt when struck by a car while sledding, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported. Two other area mishaps were reported.

William Crabtree, 48, of Grimm's Bridge Rd. is in "good" condition at City Hospital with rib and mouth injuries suffered Sunday night when his car went over the embankment and overturned.

Officers said Crabtree, an employe of Crucible Steel Co. at Midland, was headed north about a half mile from the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. when he lost control on the snow-slick roadway and went down the hillside about 9:20 p. m.

George Jones, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jones of Wyoming Ave., Glenmoor, is in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital with a fractured left arm received when struck by a car yesterday afternoon.

Officers said the youth's sled came out of Princeton Ave. into the path of the car driven by George Barton, 33, of 681 Spring Grove Ave., who was headed west on the Y. and O. Rd. The mishap occurred about 4:07 p. m.

Jack Gloeckner, 21, of 1200 Avondale St. was cited yesterday morning on the East Liverpool-Wellsville super road following a collision between his wrecker and a car driven by Carl Hawk, 27, of Parma.

The patrol said Gloeckner, headed south, made a left turn from the right lane of the two-lane roadway just as Hawk attempted to pass. Gloeckner was fined $10 and costs this morning by Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw on a charge of reckless operation.

The collision occurred about a mile north of Wellsville.

Esther Whitacre, 33, of 125 S. Market St., Lisbon, was cited after her car skidded into an oncoming auto yesterday afternoon on Route 45 about two miles north of Lisbon.

Officers said a vehicle swerved in front of the woman, and she veered her car to avoid a collision, skidding into the approaching auto driven by Ned Dowd, 54, of Lisbon R. D. 3. She was charged with driving left of center.

The Wellsville Elks Lodge will hold services Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Cherries Flavor Filling Of Chocolate Torte

The Chocolate Cherry Torte has layers of fudgy cake alternated with a fluffy cherry filling, while dark chocolate glazes over the top.

Follow the fudge cake recipe below slicing two 8" layers into four even layers. The filling of the torte requires no cooking, but calls for Cherry Fluff frosting mix.

Crushed maraschino cherries (sealed into an envelope inside the package) are folded into the mix to give the fluffy filling a light pink color and delicate flavor.

Chocolate Cherry Torte

2 cups sugar
2 tbsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
¼ cup soft shortening
1½ cups milk
1 tsp. vanilla
2 eggs (1-3 to ½ cup)
4 sq. unsweetened chocolate (4 oz.) melted

Grease and flour two 8 or 9" layer pans. Sift dry ingredients into bowl. Add shortening, milk, and vanilla. Beat 2 minutes on medium speed in mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl constantly. Add eggs and melted chocolate, and beat 2 more minutes scraping bowl constantly.

Pour into prepared pans. Batter will be thin in first stage. Bake at 350 degrees about 35 to 40 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool.

Cherry Fluff Filling With Chocolate Glaze

1 pkg. Cherry Fluff frosting mix
1 sq. unsweetened chocolate (1 oz.)
1 tsp. butter
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tbsp. boiling water

Make frosting as directed on package. Put layers together with 1-3 of frosting between each layer, saving small amount for center of top layer. Frost center of top layer with remaining frosting, leaving a border of about 2".

Melt chocolate and butter together over hot water. Remove from over hot water; blend in confectioners' sugar and 2 tbsp. boiling water. Beat only until smooth, but not stiff. Spread chocolate icing around border of cake, swirling slightly into edge of Cherry Fluff and dribbling down sides of cake.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday afternoon and night.

Cherries Flavor Filling Of Chocolate Torte

Follow the fudge cake recipe below slicing two 8" layers into four even layers. The filling of the torte requires no cooking, but calls for Cherry Fluff frosting mix.

Crushed maraschino cherries (sealed into an envelope inside the package) are folded into the mix to give the fluffy filling a light pink color and delicate flavor.

Chocolate Cherry Torte

1¾ cups sifted flour
2 cups sugar
2 tbsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
¼ cup soft shortening
1½ cups milk
1 tsp. vanilla
2 eggs (1-3 to ½ cup)
4 sq. unsweetened chocolate (4 oz.) melted

Grease and flour two 8 or 9" layer pans. Sift dry ingredients into bowl. Add shortening, milk, and vanilla. Beat 2 minutes on medium speed in mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl constantly. Add eggs and melted chocolate, and beat 2 more minutes scraping bowl constantly.

Pour into prepared pans. Batter will be thin in first stage. Bake at 350 degrees about 35 to 40 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool.

Cherry Fluff Filling With Chocolate Glaze

1 pkg. Cherry Fluff frosting mix
1 sq. unsweetened chocolate (1 oz.)
1 tsp. butter
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tbsp. boiling water

Make frosting as directed on package. Put layers together with 1-3 of frosting between each layer, saving small amount for center of top layer. Frost center of top layer with remaining frosting, leaving a border of about 2".

Melt chocolate and butter together over hot water. Remove from over hot water; blend in confectioners' sugar and 2 tbsp. boiling water. Beat only until smooth, but not stiff. Spread chocolate icing around border of cake, swirling slightly into edge of Cherry Fluff and dribbling down sides of cake.

The Size Of Trouble Is Relative

This is no time to preach and moralize, while snow is drifting down coat collars. But there could be no better time to assert that the size of trouble is relative to distance. This is easy to forget.

The fellow who was all stirred up about trouble in the Middle East a few days ago now has something more momentous to worry about. He does not have the right thermostat in his automobile and has not installed the double windows in his house.

Or, if he was one of those whose hearts beat faster because Vice President Nixon went to London without a dinner jacket and had to borrow one his heart is thumping now because he never closed a deal for snow tires and didn't remember to buy a bag of cement to carry in the back of his car, to hold it on the road.

Some of the people who have been feeling deep concern about the future of Berlin found themselves free from worry about Berlin when they listened to the sound of their spinning wheels stuck in the new winter's first snowfall.

Gloves and the lost lining of removable lining coats became more important than what is going on in Geneva.

People so preoccupied with conditions along the Yangtze River they were unaware of what was happening in their own bailiwick became bailiwick - conscious in a hurry when a telephone call reminded them to bring home something to eat in the event of being snowbound over the weekend.

Shovels, salt and the size of the coal pile loomed larger than airline strikes, the engagement of the Japanese prince to a commoner and the next big moon-poof at Cape Canaveral.

The gap between immediate and remote realities closed with a thud as soon as it was realized there was more to be concerned about the weather right here at home than with a 100-mile-an-hour wind that had whistled out of a canyon somewhere out west.

Perhaps it's good for us to come to grips with a few troubles of our own — even if they are minor.

As Nation Goes, So Goes Alaska

There was more to the Alaska election than met the casual eye, because it was being used by the Republicans to test a proposition in politics.

The proposition is that the way to win is to promise to give away the government faster than the opposition in promising to give it away.

After the 1958 election had gone against the Republicans overwhelmingly in the 48 states back home, they decided to experiment in Alaska. Vice President Nixon and Secretary of Interior Seaton both campaigned up there, but Secretary Seaton had the advantage of appearing after, not before, the Nov. 4 election. He promised Alaskan voters everything their hearts desired. He "me-tooed" them to a frazzle.

And the Democrats won anyway.

There now will be a period of post-mortems on the outcome in which nothing will be proved — not even that Republicans are as bad off as they appear to be. But neither will it be proved that Republicans are in trouble because they have not been giving away the people's wealth fast enough to the outstretched hands that are the guidepost of political strategists in the United States.

The strategists believe the way to victory is in the direction of the voters who want something for nothing.

It is a grave question, indeed, whether there is any other way to victory in the United States. Those who want to think opposition to unlimited taxing, spending and deficit financing is inevitable and that this will give rise to an anti-spending, sound-money party in U.S. politics have yet to prove their point.

It would seem that Republicans proved in Alaska there is no point to trying to outdo the Democrats in a giveaway program, either, but that had been proved before. Voters cannot be convinced that funny money, endless deficits and the ever-chugging gravy train are Republican principles even when Republicans talk as if they were.

This could be a powerful factor in politics one of these days when funny money isn't funny any more and the gravy train begins to slop over and dirty up innocent bystanders.

The opposition may have to find a new name.

An Early Appeal

The annual Christmas appeals for this group and that group have begun. They are sincere and heartfelt and the causes are deserving.

Among those who hope to benefit from the "spirit of giving" are the children under the jurisdiction of the Columbiana County Welfare Department.

The extent of their Christmas hinges to a great degree on the amount of money contributed in their behalf. The department is not legally permitted to spend money for holiday gifts for the youngsters and whatever is available must come, therefore, from the pockets of individuals and groups.

Some $1,600 is needed for a merry Christmas in this case. To date only about $420 has been donated.

The spirit of Christmas to be sure should not be measured in dollars and cents alone, but this is one instance where the "cold cash" is the thing, not the intangible forces which operate so successfully in many other cases. Both sentimentalists and crass commercialists should agree that the youngsters under the Welfare Department's care are worthy of the $1,600 needed.

Yes, Virginia

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. But you never will see him. Like the Easter bunny and the chicken in chicken soup, he is invisible.

But papas and mamas get mixed up about this, because the truth is they are not bright. As you grow older, Virginia, you will realize that the only really bright thing papas and mamas ever do in their whole lives is to have little girls like you, who can marry little boys so they can have problems like what to do about the fact Santa Claus is invisible.

You would think people smart enough to explain the difference between the Easter Bunny and a chocolate rabbit could tell a kid why imitations of Santa Claus are not to be confused with the genuine jolly old elf who looks after little boys and girls and impoverished nationalists and hard-pressed bureaucrats, wouldn't you, Virginia?

But, instead, the old folks talk themselves into one corner after another until editorial writers for newspapers finally have to come to their rescue with reassurances that there really is a Santa Claus, but you can't see him any more than you can see the Easter Bunny, yet everybody knows there is an Easter Bunny. Hey, Virginia?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Wars hot and cold now come in all sizes, shapes and categories. Now we have one between American Indian and white man. On many reservations the Injun is watching battle between the Tuscarora tribe of the Niagara Falls region and power authorities, over the right of a state to take over part of an Indian reservation for super projects.

At times the Injuns seem ahead for first time since Hollywood began making pictures of Indian combats.

The Tuscaroras are roaring into action with lawyers, brief cases and "Foogle versus Cropsey" decisions instead of arrows and tomahawks.

For the first time in any Indian war the chiefs and braves are crying, "If your honor please" and "I wish to file a demurrer," instead of ear-piercing war cries of old.

TO THE OFFER of $1,100 an acre for land, the Tuscarora chief says, "Indians regard land as sacred and love nature, while $1,100 is just money and it evaporates. Land never does."

The chief opponent is Bob Moses, famed New York super - project wonder man known to red man as "Willowakimus" or "Spirit of the Blistering Epistle and Thundercloud" who never takes 'no' for an answer.

Mr. Moses is a tough opponent afoot, on horseback or fountain pen. He is one of the few men who can seem to be in Indian feather regalia when wearing a plain business suit, and gives war whoops through written words.

FOR A MOMENT the White House thought newly elected Democrats had arrived ahead of time, posted sentries, and got ready to call for Rogers Rangers.

The Federal Power Commission discovered the modern Injun dresses well, speaks better English than the wagon train heroes in TV westerns and sells nothing for a string of beads, six clamshells and a Waterbury watch.

The Tuscaroras have counsel and will travel. They know Blackstone is a law authority as well as a cigar. Only one thing is crystal clear: Hollywood should buy the script. When it gets Moses and Indian chiefs in the battle, Cooper's "Last of Mohicans" becomes tepid stuff.

YALE LOST so many battles this season that it can now get into a playoff with Perry Mason's district attorney.

Odd Facts

When George Washington, Robert Morris and Gen. Ross were planning the design of the U. S. flag, they decided on a six - pointed star believing this would be the easiest to make. However, Betsy Ross persuaded them to adopt the five-pointed star when she demonstrated how easy it was to make this type with one clip of the scissors.

Checkers and chess are related games. It is not definitely established which is the older, but the general consensus is that checkers must have preceded chess, and that the latter game, with its many intricate and elaborate plays, was devised from the far simpler game of checkers.

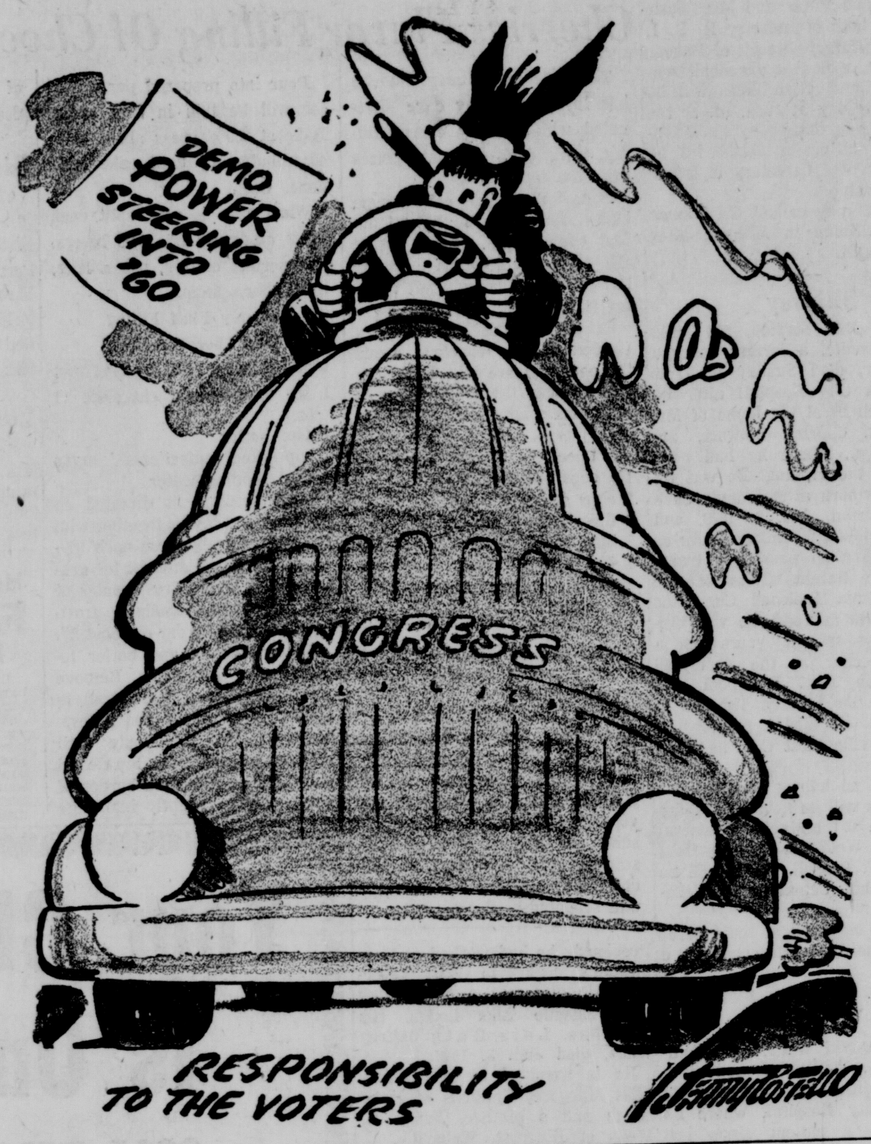
Time For Careful Driving



The Purpose Of A Union

By Raymond Moley

New light can be thrown upon the problem of the union shop by a case decided on Nov. 21 by Judge O. L. Long in the County Superior Court in Macon, Ga.

The distinction is made between a union as a political organization and as an instrument for collective bargaining.

Since the election I have visited two of the states in which right-to-work referenda were defeated, Idaho and Ohio, and have heard the story of these campaigns from those who were intimately connected with them.

I have also talked with Republican candidates who were hit hard by the heavy union vote brought out by the right-to-work issue.

In one case, a candidate lost all of his expected majority except a narrow margin.

It is not necessary to discuss the reasons why right-to-work lost and whether it was wise to put it on the ballot in a year when candidates for high office were running.

I would suggest that the "right" in right-to-work involves two rights — one economic, the other political.

PERHAPS the end to be achieved by sponsors in various states could be found by splitting the two and devising a way first to win for all workers their political freedom from the injustice to which they must submit through a union shop, under present practices by union leaders.

The Georgia case involved an action brought by Nancy M. Looper and other employees of certain railroads for relief concerning the use of their union dues for political and ideological purposes.

Under the stipulation of facts by counsel for both sides, it was admitted, in the words of Judge Long, "that the periodic dues and assessments required of all members of the 15 railway unions, defendant unions, in order to acquire and retain membership have been, and are being and will be used in substantial part for the support of political candidates locally, statewide and for federal offices. . . . I find that the dues and assessments are being used and will be used in part to support, propagate and foster ideological and political doctrines to which these plaintiffs do not subscribe."

THE JUDGE found further that such expenditures were not "germane to collective bargaining."

Therefore, the judge followed the U.S. Supreme Court's opinion in the so-called Hanson case involving a similar problem, that under the federal law membership may be required only for forcing members to pay for collective bargaining and not for political or ideological purposes.

This is explicit in Justice Douglas' opinion in that case.

This decision, which will probably be supported by the Georgia Supreme Court in the light of an earlier decision, strikes at the root of the injustice in using union dues to support candidates and political ideas which some members do not favor.

It will be difficult indeed for the U.S. Supreme Court to deny such employes their political rights in this matter.

The virtue of this sort of approach is that it separates the economic issues from the political ones and substantially eliminates the "free rider" argument, so effectively used in the campaigns against right-to-work proposals.

Perhaps an approach by those who would free union members from compulsory membership by striking at this political angle might be much more successful than that which has been taken before.

It will be necessary, of course, to define with some clarity what political activities really are. But that is not at all difficult. For many of these unions perform, in fact, all of the activities of political parties except the official and lawfully defined function of nominating candidates.

All of the other business of politics they do openly and most effectively.

Lo, The Pitchman Cometh

By Truman Twill

William Feather relates in The Imperial Magazine, which I always look forward to reading, that the public in medieval times was pestered by criers, fishwives and other peddlers, before the days of printed advertising.

All of us who have reached and passed the age of discretion can remember when there was a great deal of this right here in the United States. We don't have to go back to the Middle Ages.

Peddlers hawked their wares up and down residential streets. Many stores resorted to barkers. Downtown streets were cluttered with fast-talking pitchmen who set up their suitcase stands and rallied a crowd, sometimes with police consent, sometimes with an eye peeled for the descending arm of the law.

This wasn't as bad as it was when everything had to be shouted—even the time of day and the news of the day—but it could get pretty noisy when all the montebanks, hucksters, fishmongers, scissors grinders, junkmen, green grocers and ice peddlers tuned up in good voice on the same occasion.

If that kind of bedlam were turned loose today, there would be a crackdown by the law under the anti-noise ordinances. Otherwise, the quiet-loving citizens of a community would not be able to hear what the montebanks, hucksters, fishmongers, scissors grinders, junkmen, green grocers, ice peddlers and a dozen other varieties of criers were saying on the sales machines in the living rooms of America.

These people have been invited into the living room, to spread out their wares and make the suckers' eyes pop out of their sockets with wonderment at an endless variety of glass beads and tonics good for man or beast, one bottle to a customer, step in close, please, and have your money ready.

More than anything else out of history, the electronic salesman in the living room imitates the medicine show, with the big painted van backed up to the curb, the kerosene flares casting shadows and the medicine man and his minstrels and snake charmers spellbinding the gooks from the tailgate.

There was music and dancing—belly-dancing by the lady assistant, if the law permitted. There was joking and bantering, oratory and beauty, glitter and dazzle. And always at the psychological moment, the artist would push the product.

Just step in close, folks, and have your money ready . . .

Those of us who have reached and passed the age of discretion don't mind at all that this has come back. Nor do we mind that the very young and the very forgetful do not know that what they think is new and marvelous is really old and humdrum. They have a God-given right to think things out for themselves, and in due time they will be nostalgic about the good old days of electronic salesmanship when there were pitchmen and charlatans in every living room in the land by invitation.

Meanwhile, the spielers, criers, mongers and montebanks will have found some newer way to make their pitch, but you can bet on it—

They'll be in there pitching. They never stop. They never tire. Frankly, we love 'em. But we have to admit we never thought they'd get into the living rooms of every house in America when cops used to run 'em off the streets for doing the same thing.

Containment Policy Fades

By James Marlow

Red Blocs Begin Calling The Turn

WASHINGTON — The Russians and Red Chinese are now testing the United States' basic foreign policy — containment—which was thought out and started in the late 1940's.

That policy called for military alliances and bases around the perimeter of the Communist world to prevent its expansion. It worked fine so long as the Communist world was weak and trying to get organized. It's weak no longer.

The policy of containment is also essentially preservation of the status quo. And since its inception the West has been conducting a holding operation, with no new ideas.

But in a changing world, indefinite preservation of the status quo is an illusion. It's like riding up to meet onrushing events in a rocking chair. The result:

Instead of acting with new ideas, fresh approaches, the West has been reduced simply to reacting when the Communist world, Soviet or Red Chinese, has acted.

Once again it is being forced to react—this time against the greatest Soviet test of Western containment—at Berlin. The Soviets want the Western Powers to abandon this city which is 110 miles within Communist East Germany.

That would leave the city—already divided between West Germans and East German Communists—an island entirely within the sea of Communist East Germany. Almost certainly the city would be engulfed by communism.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles both talk of standing firm. Whether standing firm is the answer, or whether some new ideas are needed in dealing with the Soviet Union and a divided Germany, will be clearer in the next few months.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given the West six months to make a deal of some kind or get out. But whatever the West does it will be acting only in response to a previous Soviet action.

And, because the Soviet Union is now strong and has at its side an increasingly strong ally in Red China, the West faces the prospect of one Soviet move after another to smash the whole containment policy.

There's been a lot of speculation on what Khrushchev is after by this sudden decision on Berlin. Equally significant, if the answer were known, is why he chose this particular time to make his thrust.

If he can back the United States down on Berlin, this country's smaller allies in Western Europe not only will be shaken but will have reason to question their reliance on the United States in the cold war with the Soviet Union.

The United States, Britain and France—all with occupation rights in Berlin—are supposed to get together and answer Khrushchev in one voice.

What Khrushchev and the rest of the world are waiting to see is whether the answer shows vitality and imagination, weakness, indecision, or a repetition of old ideas now being challenged by communism.

Some Hash On Nash

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — "There is an awful lot of tightrope walking in the world today," said Ogden Nash.

"There are so many sore toes that a humorist can't help stepping on a few."

When he was 10 and his older sister was about to be married, Nash composed an ode long cherished by his family. It began:

"The beautiful spring at last is here,
And has taken my sister I sadly fear."

Some 46 years, 50,000 published lines, and a million chuckles later, Nash is widely rated as America's most successful writer of light verse.

His 13 books—the latest is, "You Can't Get There From Here" — have sold nearly two million copies. With the possible exception of Robert Frost, he probably is the only well known American author who has made a living in the last quarter century from verse.

"I'm something of a freak," he admitted. "I've been lucky."

But even Nash has found it advisable to toil part-time in other vineyards. He lectures, has done two stints in Hollywood, written lyrics for Broadway shows, appeared as a TV panelist.

His latest television assignment was to write the lyrics for six songs for "Peter and the Wolf," starring Art Carney and presented Sunday over the ABC-TV network.

"The only love song was sung by a near-sighted dog to a duck under the impression she was a water spaniel," he said.

This kind of chore delights the offbeat mind of Nash, master of the kind of outrageous rhymes that tickle modern readers but give traditional poets a desire to beat their heads against a wall.

"I think in terms of rhyme, and have since I was six years old," he said.

He once almost fell in love with a lady named Mrs. Blorange. She fascinated him because of the similarity of her name to orange which, like the words silver and pilgrim, have no dictionary rhymes.

Nash began his career composing streetcar card ads at $100 a month for a firm which previously had employed F. Scott Fitzgerald in this task.

"I never wrote a car card that appeared in New York City," he said. "Just places like Chillicothe, Ohio."

Nash, a soft-voiced, hazel-eyed six footer with an habitual expression of absent-minded inquiry, is a painstaking craftsman. He turns out only one or two verses a week now, writing in pencil on sheets of yellow paper.

"I work at home because there are so many interruptions there," he remarked. "I like interruptions."

Neither the ideas nor the rhyme come easily. Writing is still hard work to him.

"The Lord doesn't usually deliver everything to you in one package as a rule," he observed dryly.

Although he has strong doubts his verses have enduring literary quality — "fashions in humor change as in everything else"—he believes "anything that is to last more than five years has to be more than merely clever.

"I like to think that behind my work there is a consistent individual point of view toward life—something more than just jokes and odd rhymes."

His viewpoint?

"This is our world, and we're locked in it," he said, "and we have to learn to survive together, whether we love or admire each other or not. We must adjust to each other."

Asked if he felt any of his verse had done any enduring good for the human race, Nash, a highly unpretentious man, smiled and nominated the following lines, the most widely reprinted of all he has written:

"I think that I shall never see
A billboard lovely as a tree.
Perhaps, unless the billboards fall,
I'll never see a tree at all."

Better Days Ahead?

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK — Just as June is the month of brides December is the month of those who read tea leaves to foretell the future of business.

And already the predictions are for better days ahead — perhaps because the days behind weren't notably too good.

The Agriculture Department is out on the limb with a forecast that everything will be better in 1959 except farm income. This limb is a bit shaky because farm income depends on many things, but a major one is weather. And even Washington isn't too confident when predicting weather.

Most corporate executives now holding forth think business will be better—particularly for their own firms.

They're counting heavily on the consumers. And the Prudential Insurance Co. of America says that consumers will spend 16 billion dollars more next year for a record 307 billion dollars.

The share that will go for consumer durables—autos, household appliances and the like—will rise from this year's 36½ billion dollars to 40 billion dollars next year and 46 billion in 1960, according to the economists of McGraw-Hill, business publication firm.

Dun & Bradstreet says all but a handful of 109 corporate executives it queried expect business to be better next year, although none predicts an out and out boom until the 60's.

F. W. Dodge Corp., which keeps a watchful eye on construction contract awards, reports that they've been setting monthly records the last six months, and that should mean plenty of activity in the months ahead.

Prudential economists spread their optimism over more territory than almost anyone else. They predict: 1. A substantial increase in employment (1½ million more jobs); 2. A rise in wages (although maybe at not quite so fast a rate as in the past); and 3. Gains in corporate profits (although not much change in dividend payments).

On perhaps surer ground, they predict that federal government spending will rise by 3½ billion dollars, state and local spending by four billion dollars.

The Size Of Trouble Is Relative

This is no time to preach and moralize, while snow is drifting down coat collars. But there could be no better time to assert that the size of trouble is relative to distance. This is easy to forget.

The fellow who was all stirred up about trouble in the Middle East a few days ago now has something more momentous to worry about. He does not have the right thermostat in his automobile and has not installed the double windows in his house.

Or, if he was one of those whose hearts beat faster because Vice President Nixon went to London without a dinner jacket and had to borrow one his heart is thumping now because he never closed a deal for snow tires and didn't remember to buy a bag of cement to carry in the back of his car, to hold it on the road.

Some of the people who have been feeling deep concern about the future of Berlin found themselves free from worry about Berlin when they listened to the sound of their spinning wheels stuck in the new winter's first snowfall.

Gloves and the lost lining of removable lining coats became more important than what is going on in Geneva.

People so preoccupied with conditions along the Yangtze River they were unaware of what was happening in their own bailiwick became bailiwick - conscious in a hurry when a telephone call reminded them to bring home something to eat in the event of being snowbound over the weekend.

Shovels, salt and the size of the coal pile loomed larger than airline strikes, the engagement of the Japanese prince to a commoner and the next big moon-poof at Cape Canaveral.

The gap between immediate and remote realities closed with a thud as soon as it was realized there was more to be concerned about the weather right here at home than with a 100-mile-an-hour wind that had whistled out of a canyon somewhere out west.

Perhaps it's good for us to come to grips with a few troubles of our own — even if they are minor.

As Nation Goes, So Goes Alaska

There was more to the Alaska election than met the casual eye, because it was being used by the Republicans to test a proposition in politics.

The proposition is that the way to win is to promise to give away the government faster than the opposition in promising to give it away.

After the 1958 election had gone against the Republicans overwhelmingly in the 48 states back home, they decided to experiment in Alaska. Vice President Nixon and Secretary of Interior Seaton both campaigned up there, but Secretary Seaton had the advantage of appearing after, not before, the Nov. 4 election. He promised Alaskan voters everything their hearts desired. He "me-tooed" them to a frazzle.

And the Democrats won anyway.

There now will be a period of post-mortems on the outcome in which nothing will be proved — not even that Republicans are as bad off as they appear to be. But neither will it be proved that Republicans are in trouble because they have not been giving away the people's wealth fast enough to the outstretched hands that are the guidepost of political strategists in the United States.

The strategists believe the way to victory is in the direction of the voters who want something for nothing.

It is a grave question, indeed, whether there is any other way to victory in the United States. Those who want to think opposition to unlimited taxing, spending and deficit financing is inevitable and that this will give rise to an anti-spending, sound-money party in U.S. politics have yet to prove their point.

It would seem that Republicans proved in Alaska there is no point to trying to outdo the Democrats in a giveaway program, either, but that had been proved before. Voters cannot be convinced that funny money, endless deficits and the ever-chugging gravy train are Republican principles even when Republicans talk as if they were.

This could be a powerful factor in politics one of these days when funny money isn't funny any more and the gravy train begins to slop over and dirty up innocent bystanders.

The opposition may have to find a new name.

An Early Appeal

The annual Christmas appeals for this group and that group have begun. They are sincere and heartfelt and the causes are deserving.

Among those who hope to benefit from the "spirit of giving" are the children under the jurisdiction of the Columbiana County Welfare Department.

The extent of their Christmas hinges to a great degree on the amount of money contributed in their behalf. The department is not legally permitted to spend money for holiday gifts for the youngsters and whatever is available must come, therefore, from the pockets of individuals and groups.

Some $1,600 is needed for a merry Christmas in this case. To date only about $420 has been donated.

The spirit of Christmas to be sure should not be measured in dollars and cents alone, but this is one instance where the "cold cash" is the thing, not the intangible forces which operate so successfully in many other cases. Both sentimentalists and crass commercialists should agree that the youngsters under the Welfare Department's care are worthy of the $1,600 needed.

Yes, Virginia

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. But you never will see him. Like the Easter bunny and the chicken in chicken soup, he is invisible.

But papas and mamas get mixed up about this, because the truth is they are not bright. As you grow older, Virginia, you will realize that the only really bright thing papas and mamas ever do in their whole lives is to have little girls like you, who can marry little boys so they can have problems like what to do about the fact Santa Claus is invisible.

You would think people smart enough to explain the difference between the Easter Bunny and a chocolate rabbit could tell a kid why imitations of Santa Claus are not to be confused with the genuine jolly old elf who looks after little boys and girls and impoverished nationalists and hard-pressed bureaucrats, wouldn't you, Virginia?

But, instead, the old folks talk themselves into one corner after another until editorial writers for newspapers finally have to come to their rescue with reassurances that there really is a Santa Claus, but you can't see him any more than you can see the Easter Bunny, yet everybody knows there is an Easter Bunny. Hey, Virginia?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Wars hot and cold now come in all sizes, shapes and categories. Now we have one between American Indian and white man. On many reservations the Injun is watching battle between the Tuscarora tribe of the Niagara Falls region and power authorities, over the right of a state to take over part of an Indian reservation for super projects.

At times the Injuns seem ahead for first time since Hollywood began making pictures of Indian combats.

The Tuscaroras are roaring into action with lawyers, brief cases and "Foogle versus Cropsey" decisions instead of arrows and tomahawks.

For the first time in any Indian war the chiefs and braves are crying, "If your honor please" and "I wish to file a demurrer," instead of ear-piercing war cries of old.

TO THE OFFER of $1,100 an acre for land, the Tuscarora chief says, "Indians regard land as sacred and love nature, while $1,100 is just money and it evaporates. Land never does."

The chief opponent is Bob Moses, famed New York super - project wonder man known to red man as "Willowakimus" or "Spirit of the Blistering Epistle and Thundercloud" who never takes 'no' for an answer.

Mr. Moses is a tough opponent afoot, on horseback or fountain pen. He is one of the few men who can seem to be in Indian feather regalia when wearing a plain business suit, and gives war whoops through written words.

The fight reached the Federal Power Commission with Washington seeing more Indians than during the last Buffalo Bill show.

FOR A MOMENT the White House thought newly elected Democrats had arrived ahead of time, posted sentries, and got ready to call for Rogers Rangers.

The Federal Power Commission discovered the modern Injun dresses well, speaks better English than the wagon train heroes in TV westerns and sells nothing for a string of beads, six clamshells and a Waterbury watch.

The Tuscaroras have counsel and will travel. They know Blackstone is a law authority as well as a cigar. Only one thing is crystal clear: Hollywood should buy the script. When it gets Moses and Indian chiefs in the battle, Cooper's "Last of Mohicans" becomes tepid stuff.

YALE LOST so many battles this season that it can now get into a playoff with Perry Mason's district attorney.

When George Washington, Robert Morris and Gen. Ross were planning the design of the U. S. flag, they decided on a six - pointed star believing this would be the easiest to make. However, Betsy Ross persuaded them to adopt the five-pointed star when she demonstrated how easy it was to make this type with one clip of the scissors.

Checkers and chess are related games. It is not definitely established which is the older, but the general consensus is that checkers must have preceded chess, and that the latter game, with its many intricate and elaborate plays, was devised from the far simpler game of checkers.

Time For Careful Driving

The Purpose Of A Union

By Raymond Moley

New light can be thrown upon the problem of the union shop by a case decided on Nov. 21 by Judge O. L. Long in the County Superior Court in Macon, Ga.

The distinction is made between a union as a political organization and as an instrument for collective bargaining.

Since the election I have visited two of the states in which right-to-work referenda were defeated, Idaho and Ohio, and have heard the story of these campaigns from those who were intimately connected with them.

I have also talked with Republican candidates who were hit hard by the heavy union vote brought out by the right-to-work issue.

In one case, a candidate lost all of his expected majority except a narrow margin.

It is not necessary to discuss the reasons why right-to-work lost and whether it was wise to put it on the ballot in a year when candidates for high office were running.

I would suggest that the "right" in right-to-work involves two rights — one economic, the other political.

PERHAPS the end to be achieved by sponsors in various states could be found by splitting the two and devising a way first to win for all workers their political freedom from the injustice to which they must submit through a union shop, under present practices by union leaders.

The Georgia case involved an action brought by Nancy M. Looper and other employees of certain railroads for relief concerning the use of their union dues for political and ideological purposes.

Under the stipulation of facts by counsel for both sides, it was admitted, in the words of Judge Long, "that the periodic dues and assessments required of all members of the 15 railway unions, defendant unions, in order to acquire and retain membership have been, and are being and will be used in substantial part for the support of political candidates locally, statewide and for federal offices. . . . I find that the dues and assessments are being used and will be used in part to support, propagate and foster ideological and political doctrines to which these plaintiffs do not subscribe."

THE JUDGE found further that such expenditures were not "germane to collective bargaining."

Therefore, the judge followed the U.S. Supreme Court's opinion in the so-called Hanson case involving a similar problem, that under the federal law membership may be required only for forcing members to pay for collective bargaining and not for political or ideological purposes.

This is explicit in Justice Douglas' opinion in that case.

This decision, which will probably be supported by the Georgia Supreme Court in the light of an earlier decision, strikes at the root of the injustice in using union dues to support candidates and political ideas which some members do not favor.

It will be difficult indeed for the U.S. Supreme Court to deny such employes their political rights in this matter.

The virtue of this sort of approach is that it separates the economic issues from the political ones and substantially eliminates the "free rider" argument, so effectively used in the campaigns against right-to-work proposals.

Perhaps an approach by those who would free union members from compulsory membership by striking at this political angle might be much more successful than that which has been taken before.

It will be necessary, of course, to define with some clarity what political activities really are. But that is not at all difficult. For many of these unions perform, in fact, all of the activities of political parties except the official and lawfully defined function of nominating candidates.

All of the other business of politics they do openly and most effectively.

Lo, The Pitchman Cometh

By Truman Twill

William Feather relates in The Imperial Magazine, which I always look forward to reading, that the public in medieval times was pestered by criers, fishwives and other peddlers, before the days of printed advertising.

All of us who have reached and passed the age of discretion can remember when there was a great deal of this right here in the United States. We don't have to go back to the Middle Ages.

Peddlers hawked their wares up and down residential streets. Many stores resorted to barkers. Downtown streets were cluttered with fast-talking pitchmen who set up their suitcase stands and rallied a crowd, sometimes with police consent, sometimes with an eye peeled for the descending arm of the law.

This wasn't as bad as it was when everything had to be shouted—even the time of day and the news of the day—but it could get pretty noisy when all the montebanks, hucksters, fishmongers, scissors grinders, junkmen, green grocers and ice peddlers tuned up in good voice on the same occasion.

If that kind of bedlam were turned loose today, there would be a crackdown by the law under the anti-noise ordinances. Otherwise, the quiet-loving citizens of a community would not be able to hear what the montebanks, hucksters, fishmongers, scissors grinders, junkmen, green grocers, ice peddlers and a dozen other varieties of criers were saying on the sales machines in the living rooms of America.

These people have been invited into the living room, to spread out their wares and make the suckers' eyes pop out of their sockets with wonderment at an endless variety of glass beads and tonics good for man or beast, one bottle to a customer, step in close, please, and have your money ready.

More than anything else out of history, the electronic salesman in the living room imitates the medicine show, with the big painted van backed up to the curb, the kerosene flares casting shadows and the medicine man and his minstrels and snake charmers spellbinding the gooks from the tailgate.

There was music and dancing—belly-dancing by the lady assistant, if the law permitted. There was joking and bantering, oratory and beauty, glitter and dazzle. And always at the psychological moment, the artist would push the product.

Just step in close, folks, and have your money ready . . .

Those of us who have reached and passed the age of discretion don't mind at all that this has come back. Nor do we mind that the very young and the very forgetful do not know that what they think is new and marvelous is really old and humdrum. They have a God-given right to think things out for themselves, and in due time they will be nostalgic about the good old days of electronic salesmanship when there were pitchmen and charlatans in every living room in the land by invitation.

Meanwhile, the spielers, criers, mongers and montebanks will have found some newer way to make their pitch, but you can bet on it—

They'll be in there pitching. They never stop. They never tire. Frankly, we love 'em. But we have to admit we never thought they'd get into the living rooms of every house in America when cops used to run 'em off the streets for doing the same thing.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Thirty-four deaths and thirty - six births were reported in the rural districts of Columbiana County during November.

Newell school children took an active part in the annual Christmas health seal drive under the auspices of the Hancock County Tuberculosis Association.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Walter B. Hill, Republican county chairman, attended a meeting in Columbus of all county chairmen of Ohio.

TEN YEARS AGO — A parcel post annex, to relieve crowded conditions in the post office during the Christmas mailing rush, was opened in Rural Ln.

Albert Barmer was elected president of the Chester Flower and Garden Club.

Containment Policy Fades

By James Marlow

Red Blocs Begin Calling The Turn

WASHINGTON

The Russians and Red Chinese are now testing the United States' basic foreign policy — containment—which was thought out and started in the late 1940's.

That policy called for military alliances and bases around the perimeter of the Communist world to prevent its expansion. It worked fine so long as the Communist world was weak and trying to get organized. It's weak no longer.

The policy of containment is also essentially preservation of the status quo. And since its inception the West has been conducting a holding operation, with no new ideas.

But in a changing world, indefinite preservation of the status quo is an illusion. It's like riding up to meet onrushing events in a rocking chair. The result:

Instead of acting with new ideas, fresh approaches, the West has been reduced simply to reacting when the Communist world, Soviet or Red Chinese, has acted.

Once again it is being forced to react—this time against the greatest Soviet test of Western containment—at Berlin. The Soviets want the Western Powers to abandon this city which is 110 miles within Communist East Germany.

That would leave the city—already divided between West Germans and East German Communists—an island entirely within the sea of Communist East Germany. Almost certainly the city would be engulfed by communism.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles both talk of standing firm. Whether standing firm is the answer, or whether some new ideas are needed in dealing with the Soviet Union and a divided Germany, will be clearer in the next few months.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given the West six months to make a deal of some kind or get out. But whatever the West does it will be acting only in response to a previous Soviet action.

And, because the Soviet Union is now strong and has at its side an increasingly strong ally in Red China, the West faces the prospect of one Soviet move after another to smash the whole containment policy.

There's been a lot of speculation on what Khrushchev is after by this sudden decision on Berlin. Equally significant, if the answer were known, is why he chose this particular time to make his thrust.

If he can back the United States down on Berlin, this country's smaller allies in Western Europe not only will be shaken but will have reason to question their reliance on the United States in the cold war with the Soviet Union.

The United States, Britain and France—all with occupation rights in Berlin—are supposed to get together and answer Khrushchev in one voice.

What Khrushchev and the rest of the world are waiting to see is whether the answer shows vitality and imagination, weakness, indecision, or a repetition of old ideas now being challenged by communism.

Some Hash On Nash

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

"There is an awful lot of tightrope walking in the world today," said Ogden Nash.

"There are so many sore toes that a humorist can't help stepping on a few."

When he was 10 and his older sister was about to be married, Nash composed an ode long cherished by his family. It began:

Thanksgiving Traffic Claims 24

Ohio Safety Aides Look To Yuletide

By The Associated Press

Like the rest of us, Ohio's safety experts have put Thanksgiving behind and are looking toward the Christmas holidays.

But, unlike most of us, they are not looking forward to the Christmas season. For last year more people died in Ohio over the long Christmas weekend then in any other state in the nation.

Twenty-four in traffic, four in fires and three from miscellaneous fatal accidents in 1957. Safety experts are hoping that won't be repeated, especially since the state's No. 1 cause of accidental deaths—the traffic-connected accident—has taken 11 per cent fewer lives in the first 10 months of 1958.

Just how the toll for the long Thanksgiving weekend jus passed will affect this is not yet known. Between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday, 26 persons died accidentally in Ohio—16 in traffic, 5 in fires and 6 more from miscellaneous causes.

Ironically, the toll for the usual period of The Associated Press' survey—6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday—was unusually low. Nine persons died during that period. Three of the nine deaths were in traffic, perhaps attesting to the fact that icy roads and bad weather kept travelers off the roadways —and alive.

Wednesday night

Pascual Salaz, 55, and Jessie Mendoga, 20, both of Hamler (Henry County), when their auto failed to negotiate a jog in a Henry County road and plunged into a ditch.

Eric Hayes, 3 months, Columbus, in an auto and a truck collision on Ohio 90, about seven miles southeast of Jefferson.

Nick Koran, 60, Cleveland, struck by a car as he crossed Chester Street in Cleveland

Thursday

Mrs. Ann Thomas, 36, Cleveland, when the auto in which she was riding struck a utility pole in Cleveland.

Julius T. Simms, 24, Fremont, when his car left a Sandusky County road and struck a tree.

Mode Thompson, 76, Eaton, when he apparently walked into the side of a moving auto in Eaton.

Mrs. Ruth Childers, 42, suffocated when fire broke out in her Dayton home.

Gerald Jensen, 16, Salem, when the car in which he was a passenger left Pine Lake Road about three miles west of Salem and struck an embankment.

Isaac Hill, 70, Washington Court House, struck by a bus on U. S. 35, about 10 miles west of Washington Court House while apparently trying to flag down the bus.

Leonard Carl Jenkins, 27, Brunswick, on a one-car accident on Ohio 82 just west of the intersection with U. S. 42 near Cleveland.

Michael Spence, 8, shot accidentally by a hunting companion near Portsmouth.

Friday

Bernice Frisby, 18, Lorain, killed when the car in which she was a passenger hit a utility pole north of Elyria.

Mrs. Muriel Stahl, 33, Peninsula (Summit County), when her car was hit by a train north of Akron.

Barbara Yoder, 9, Rt. 3, Minerva, killed when the auto she was in overturned on Greentown-Alliance Road in Stark County.

Saturday

Mrs. Violet Warner, 83, in a fire at her home north of Alliance.

Wladislau Matysic, 51, Youngstown, struck by a freight train in the railroad yards there.

Regina Joan Eskew, 6 weeks, Hartford City, Ind., when the car in which she was riding swerved off U.S. 35 and struck a bridge abutment in Ross County about 10 miles east of Washington Court House.

Audrey Wilson, 4 months, in a Cleveland apartment fire.

Arthur Lybarger, 87, of near Hicksville, froze to death in snowstorm.

Sunday

Nello Narraccini, 52, Monogahela, Pa., when his car was involved in a four-auto pileup on icy U.S. 22 eight miles west of Wilmington.

Robert R. Dillard, 49, when his home in Alliance burned.

Nicholas Plishka, 25, and his wife, Anna Marie, 23, apparently asyphyxiated in their Cleveland apartment by a gas heater.

Mrs. Lillian Longshore, 43, Mansfield, when an Erie Railroad train hit the auto she was a passenger in at Trimble Road near Mansfield.

Northeast Gripped By Frigid Weather

By The Associated Press

The season's coldest weather blanketed the Northeast and sent an icy chill deep into the South today. The Midwest got a brief respite from the near-zero cold and snow.

The Northeast was hit by the frigid blasts in the wake of the heavy snowstorm which swept the region over the weekend after leaving near record early season falls in the Rockies and Midwest.

Temperatures dropped below zero in northern New England and near zero in parts of New York state. One of the lowest reading was -14 at Mt. Washington, N.H.

The mercury edged toward the zero mark in areas southward across western Pennsylvania into West Virginia. The freezing line extended southward toward the mid-Gulf Coast, including northwestern Florida.

Subzero marks were in prospect from the eastern Great Lakes to the mountain regions of eastern West Virginia and through the interior sections of New England. Snow was in prospect during the day in the north Atlantic states.

After several days of cold, snow and strong winds, a warming trend developed throughout most of the Mississippi Valley, the eastern Plains and the West Great Lakes.

Below-Zero Readings Add To Ohio's Woes

By The Associated Press

It wasn't any easier to start the car this morning.

Oh, in a few places it was a degree or two warmer, but the temperature still had a long climb from around the zero mark to the 35-degree high predicted by weathermen for the afternoon.

Close on the heels of Friday's shockingly sudden snow came a sharp drop in temperatures. Ohioans' feet hit a mighty cold floor Sunday morning as record low temperatures prevailed outside.

A minus-4 reading in Columbus came within a degree of the all-time low for November, recorded Nov. 22, 1880. The minus-4 was the lowest officially recorded in the state. Chillicothe had the same reading.

Zanesville had the coldest reading — minus -7.

A warm sun during the day Sunday partially thawed the well-packed snow, which varied in accumulation from 4 to 14 inches, but by late afternoon the mercury was in a power dive again and slush was becoming dangerous ice on roadways.

Snow removal crews were hard at it Sunday and today, but authorities urged the public to avoid all unnecessary driving. The advice was apparently heeded, because the traffic accident toll was low.

The forecast for today encouraged snow removal crews. In areas where the mercury climbed above freezing, it was a big break in making roadways safer for travellers.

Tuesday is also expected to start out cold, but the temperature once again is expected to move about 32 degrees, perhaps to as high as 38.

Among other problems faced Sunday were snow squalls occasionally in some areas and heavy drifting in northeast Ohio.

Dies Of Auto Injuries

CINCINNATI (AP)—Saul Feldman, 73, died today from injuries received Sunday when struck by an automobile while crossing a street.

Bone is considered living matter and is kept alive just as other organs of the body.

Absent Minded

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A clerk at the Civic Center was reported missing by his supervisor after a four - day absence from his job and apartment. It turned out he wasn't missing; he'd just hopped a Naval Reserve flight to Alaska and back and forgot to mention it.

Martial Law Lifted

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Martial law was lifted today and Jordan's citizens resumed almost normal living after 19 months under the military restrictions.

Flies To Funeral

LONDON (AP) — Sir Laurence Olivier flew home from New York Sunday to attend the funeral of his brother, Gerald, 53.

Lawyers Open Bid To Free Minister

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two lawyers went to court today to seek release of a contrary, non-taxpaying minister they say was jailed unjustly.

The Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin entered county jail—and started a fast—last Monday after U. S. District Judge John H. Druffel convicted the pacifist minister of criminal contempt and sent him to jail indefinitely.

He said the minister could purge himself of contempt by applying to the court, saying he would sign bond and agree to voluntarily appear in court.

These requirements, his court-appointed attorneys say, are illegal and a contradiction.

The core of the contempt charge was Rev. McCrackin's appearance in court for the scheduled arraignment session the attorney said.

Court aides had to arrest him on a bench warrant and carry him into court. He gave no help, nor any resistance. Once there, he took no part in the proceeding, answered no questions and declined to heed his lawyers.

The minister was following his vow not to cooperate in any way with court officials on an indictment charging he didn't show up for a scheduled conference on his income taxes. He said the court is "trying to coerce my conscience."

He has paid little or no income tax in the past ten years because he says it goes in part for war weapons and arms and he believes war the greatest evil.

The attorneys, Fred A. Dewey, law professor at the University of Cincinnati, and Theodore Berry moved to have the contempt order set aside.

A snowstorm last Friday forced arguments postponed to today.

The attorney's basic contention is that what started as an arraignment hearing last Monday turned illegally into a contempt trial.

In their motion, the lawyers said four rules of criminal procedure for this kind of contempt hearing were not followed. They were:

1. An order to show cause why a defendent should not be cited, or the same notice given in court.
2. A summation of the nature of the contempt charge alleged.
3. A reasonable time to prepare defense.
4. A notice of time and place of the contempt charge hearing, which should be a separate proceeding from other court moves in the case.

As for the two purging conditions set by Judge Druffel, the attorneys said they believe the minister cannot be required to do either, since he has never been ordered to sign bond bail and the law doesn't require a defendent to appear voluntarily in court. They say, if he agreed, it couldn't be voluntary.

As for the minister's refusal to enter a plea, the lawyers said the law gives the court power to enter a plea of innocent when a defendant stands mute.

The lawyers also said on the contempt session, there was no evidence to prove contempt, no witness took the stand and no exhibits were admitted. The judge took over the questioning.

Civilian Sends Canopy Flying In Attempt To Steal Jet Plane

BOSTON (AP)—A civilian who never before piloted a plane was charged today with trying to steal an Air Force jet to fly it to India.

Donald L. Lutman, 35, unemployed, of Bound Brook, N.J., was arrested Sunday at Hanscom Air Force Base, Bedford, when he pulled a wrong lever and set off an explosion which knocked the canopy off the jet.

FBI agents quoted Lutman as saying he wanted to take the plane to India so he could be at the bedside of Thakur, ailing Hindu religious leader.

Lutman was quoted by the FBI as saying he became a follower of the Hindu religious leader when he was serving in India with the American Field Service during World War II.

The FBI said Lutman strode to the plane—a T33 jet trainer—entered the cockpit and then fiddled with the controls in an attempt to get it off the ground.

A lever he pulled, the agents said, sent the plane's canopy flying. The Air Force said the same lever was supposed to eject the seat and its occupant but mechanical trouble prevented that, thus possibly sparing Lutman's life.

Air Force personnel rushed to the plane from nearby hangars. They quoted Lutman as asking if the plane was "gassed up and ready to go."

A military spokesman said the question led to Lutman's arrest because "no one who knows anything about jets would ask a question like that . . . A tremendous amount of ground equipment is needed to start a jet."

Wellsville's Chief Gives Warning On Cold Wave Hazard

Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville today issued a warning against some of the hazards of heating units after the department received several calls over the weekend on stoves, furnaces and hot water heaters going out because of low gas pressure.

The danger of asphyxiation or setting a home on fire always is high during extreme cold weather, he said.

Small gas heating stoves set up to supplement the main heating unit sometimes are left unvented and throw off dangerous fumes, the chief said. Persons also tend to plug all holes and cracks in the house and the fire consumes all the oxygen in the air, he added.

Those using coal stoves should be careful not to cause the flue to overheat and set fire to the walls, he said.

Persons also should use extreme caution in thawing frozen water pipes, he said. Nearby wood easily can be set afire with burning papers or a torch being used for this purpose.

Chief Lewis suggested using a household clothes iron or hot water for thawing pipes. The iron can be held on the pipe and will produce enough heat to thaw the ice, he said.

He also warned against putting hot ashes in cardboard containers.

Trustees Air Contracts With Fire Departments

New contracts with members of the Liverpool Township east and west volunteer fire departments were discussed at a meeting of the township trustees Friday night at City Hall.

Contracts are necessary, as the departments are chartered. Firemen are paid $1 a year for their services. This allows them to be eligible for state compensation in event of an injury while fighting a fire.

Several permits were issued to allow ditches to be opened and for street openings for the installation of water and gas lines. The Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. was granted a permit to open a ditch on Andrews St. for extension of a gas line.

The next meeting will be Dec. 12 at 7:30 p. m., according to Simon Hall, clerk.

$100,000 Damage Set After Blaze In Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Flames, fanned by strong winds that tossed embers a half mile, destroyed two sections of the Franklin Park Furniture Co. building here today. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Two of the 80 firemen who fought the blaze in 15-degree temperature were treated after being overcome by smoke.

Eldon LaFollette, suburban Tribly fire chief, estimated damage to the building at $40,000 and the loss of contents at $60,000. Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Much furniture in the third section, which was left standing, was salvaged.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am a boy. I am 11 years old. All my life I have wanted a dog. My mother is against it. My father says it's up to my mother. He won't help me. My brother is only 6. He's no help either.

My mother says she waited 14 years to get good rugs and a nice davenport. She says she isn't going to have a dog jumping on the furniture and making trouble on the rugs. I promised her I'd clean up after him. She says it's never the same after the damage is done.

I save part of my allowance every week and have a birthday check from my grandmother. I can spend $20 which should buy a pretty nice dog. I even offered to let Mom take the dog food money out of my allowance. She says the expense is only part of it. The extra work is the big problem.

Please help me. If you print my letter and Mom says yes I will get a female and give you a puppy. Love — JIMMY.

Dear Jimmy: Since your mother seems worried about the rugs and furniture why not try for a large dog you can house outside? Promise your mother you will feed and care for the dog and that you won't bring him in the house.

In a few weeks, when the weather is bad, the hound will cry and your mother will suggest putting him in the basement. Soon after, he'll get upstairs. Before you know it your mother will be feeding the mutt, cleaning up his tracks — and loving him. If I sound as I've been through this, it's because I have.

If it's all the same to you Jimmy, I'll pass up your generous offer of a puppy. I just got new rugs, too. Love — ANN LANDERS.

Miss In His Motor

Dear Ann: We've been married 13 years and my husband has owned 14 different cars. We have five children and it's a struggle to make ends meet.

My husband is a nut on the subject of motors. Whenever he hears an odd hum he takes the car apart and spends money for new parts. Our two older boys had hacking coughs all last winter but he was dead to those sounds. He said, "Why throw away money on doctors? They'll be all right."

The middle son has a paper route and wanted a bike badly. He's been using a wagon. His dad said he couldn't afford it and suggested the boy save his money and buy his own bike. This burned me up so I wrote my father and he sent a bike as a birthday gift.

My husband says cars are his greatest pleasure and he enjoys trading up and down, whatever that means. I'm sick to death of it. Can you help me? — DUMB DORA.

Your husband sounds like a spoiled kid. Some of those "odd hums" are probably under his own hood.

He needs to hear from an outside party (preferably a clergyman) what his selfish, car-crazy attitude is doing to his family relationships. A man who puts a hunk of tin and four wheels before his children, builds a foundation for a very lonesome old age.

Marching Orders

Dear Ann: My husband's brother got out of the Army two months ago. All he does is eat, sleep, smoke cigarettes, go to movies and run up our telephone bill.

This man is 24 years old, a college graduate and was an officer. My husband got him a job in a paper mill but he refused to take it because he has too many qualifications to start as a common laborer.

He bought steaks for dinner six weeks ago and hasn't contributed a cent to the house since. What shall I do? —DEPRESSED.

Tell your brother-in-law to get off his qualifications and get a job — ANY job. Put him on a 10-day deadline. You do this lummox no favor when you permit him to sponge. He should contribute 15 per cent of his salary for room and board and if he thinks he can do it cheaper elsewhere invite him to try it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Widow Dies In Hospital After Fall Breaks Hip

CINCINNATI (AP)—A cheerful widow who was alone 33 hours in her cellar with a broken hip died Sunday night at Christ Hospital.

Mrs. Delphine Kerr, 83, said she had reached for a basement shelf and fell Nov. 13. She dragged herself to the furnace for warmth and waited there a night and a day before Mrs. Josephine Grenier, 50, visiting from Detroit, entered the house.

A coroner's office spokesman said lung congestion contributed to her death.

Ex-King Best Man

France

Diverse groups accounted for the remainder of the Assembly's strength from France.

Ten deputies were elected from overseas territories. With the 71 from Algeria and the Sahara, the Assembly will total 546.

A new premier will be named after the electoral college picks a new president of France Dec. 21. De Gaulle is certain to get the presidency, but there has been some speculation that he might use his influence to keep Soustelle from the premiership.

Socialist leader Guy Mollet and MRP leader Pierre Pflimlin, both ministers of state in De Gaulle's present Cabinet, likely will head the opposition in the Assembly.

The new Assembly will meet first in January, for a short session.

The right-wing sweep went far beyond the desires of De Gaulle, who refused to lend his name officially to any party or candidate in an effort to remain above politics. He had hoped for a more balanced representation of moderates to effect a liberal settlement of the four-year nationalist rebellion in Algeria.

Right-Wingers Win In Algerian Election

ALGIERS (AP)—An effort by a handful of liberals to give Algeria a balanced representation in the French National Assembly met with crushing defeat at the hands of right-wingers today.

Returns from the three-day legislative election still trickling in from the rebellious country indicated only one non right-wing group of candidates scored a victory.

Elsewhere in Algeria, candidates backed by Jacques Soustelle's Union for the New Republic and the extremist Public Safety Network defeated competing right-wing lists, all demanding continuation of French rule over Algeria.

Board To Act Tuesday On Election's Supplies

The County Election Board will meet Tuesday to award contracts for ballots and poll books for a special election Dec. 30 in the Beaver Local School District.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said ballot bids have been received from Keystone Printing Co. and Wilson Printing House, both of East Liverpool, and Dodge Publishing Co. of Salem.

The Columbus Blank Book Co. and Heer Printing Co., both of Columbus, and Johnson-Watson Printing Co. of Dayton have submitted bids for poll books.

The special election is on a combination $220,000 bond issue and half-mill levy which, if approved, would enable the district to qualify for $326,000 in state aid. Voters turned down a similar proposition at the Nov. 4 general election.

2 Granges Will Confer Degrees Tuesday Night

Calcutta Grange and Yellow Creek Grange will confer degrees on new members at a meeting Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the new Calcutta Grange Hall.

The Calcutta Grange will confer the second degree and the Yellow Creek Grange, the first degree. Lunch will be served by the host grange's home economics committee, with Mrs. Wayne Thompson as chairman.

Dwight Hickman, master of Calcutta Grange, will preside at business.

Akron Driver Hurt

Pledge

That in effect was a fresh rejection of the Soviet Union's Thanksgiving Day proposal for creation of a demilitarized "free" city of West Berlin. Moscow at the same time declared void the four-power occupation agreement for Berlin which was reached after World War II.

The Soviet note on its plan gave the western powers six months to enter into negotiation for establishment of a free city. The Russians added that failure to do so would put the plan into effect automatically at the end of that period.

The swift U.S. reaction was that Russia was proposing to keep its grip on East Berlin and have the western allies abandon their rights in West Berlin.

The State Department said the end result of the plan would be to surrender West Berlin to hostile domination.

In a few weeks, when the weather is bad, the hound will cry and your mother will suggest putting him in the basement. Soon after, he'll get upstairs. Before you know it your mother will be feeding the mutt, cleaning up his tracks — and loving him. If I sound as I've been through this, it's because I have.

If it's all the same to you Jimmy, I'll pass up your generous offer of a puppy. I just got new rugs, too. Love — ANN LANDERS.

Miss In His Motor

Dear Ann: We've been married 13 years and my husband has owned 14 different cars. We have five children and it's a struggle to make ends meet.

My husband is a nut on the subject of motors. Whenever he hears an odd hum he takes the car apart and spends money for new parts. Our two older boys had hacking coughs all last winter but he was dead to those sounds. He said, "Why throw away money on doctors? They'll be all right."

The middle son has a paper route and wanted a bike badly. He's been using a wagon. His dad said he couldn't afford it and suggested the boy save his money and buy his own bike. This burned me up so I wrote my father and he sent a bike as a birthday gift.

My husband says cars are his greatest pleasure and he enjoys trading up and down, whatever that means. I'm sick to death of it. Can you help me? — DUMB DORA.

Your husband sounds like a spoiled kid. Some of those "odd hums" are probably under his own hood.

He needs to hear from an outside party (preferably a clergyman) what his selfish, car-crazy attitude is doing to his family relationships. A man who puts a hunk of tin and four wheels before his children, builds a foundation for a very lonesome old age.

Marching Orders

Dear Ann: My husband's brother got out of the Army two months ago. All he does is eat, sleep, smoke cigarettes, go to movies and run up our telephone bill.

This man is 24 years old, a college graduate and was an officer. My husband got him a job in a paper mill but he refused to take it because he has too many qualifications to start as a common laborer.

He bought steaks for dinner six weeks ago and hasn't contributed a cent to the house since. What shall I do? —DEPRESSED.

Tell your brother-in-law to get off his qualifications and get a job — ANY job. Put him on a 10-day deadline. You do this lummox no favor when you permit him to sponge. He should contribute 15 per cent of his salary for room and board and if he thinks he can do it cheaper elsewhere invite him to try it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Widow Dies In Hospital After Fall Breaks Hip

CINCINNATI (AP)—A cheerful widow who was alone 33 hours in her cellar with a broken hip died Sunday night at Christ Hospital.

Mrs. Delphine Kerr, 83, said she had reached for a basement shelf and fell Nov. 13. She dragged herself to the furnace for warmth and waited there a night and a day before Mrs. Josephine Grenier, 50, visiting from Detroit, entered the house.

A coroner's office spokesman said lung congestion contributed to her death.

Ex-King Best Man

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—Ex-King Umberto of Italy was best man today for Hungarian journalist Baron Lazslo Bohus, 32, who married Melle Vanda Rosa, 34, daughter of an Italian manufacturer of prefabricated houses. Umberto came here from his home in exile in Portugal.

France

party's leaders, ex-Premier Pierre Mendes-France, was eliminated in the first round of voting last Sunday.

Diverse groups accounted for the remainder of the Assembly's strength from France.

Ten deputies were elected from overseas territories. With the 71 from Algeria and the Sahara, the Assembly will total 546.

A new premier will be named after the electoral college picks a new president of France Dec. 21. De Gaulle is certain to get the presidency, but there has been some speculation that he might use his influence to keep Soustelle from the premiership.

Socialist leader Guy Mollet and MRP leader Pierre Pflimlin, both ministers of state in De Gaulle's present Cabinet, likely will head the opposition in the Assembly.

The new Assembly will meet first in January, for a short session.

The right-wing sweep went far beyond the desires of De Gaulle, who refused to lend his name officially to any party or candidate in an effort to remain above politics. He had hoped for a more balanced representation of moderates to effect a liberal settlement of the four-year nationalist rebellion in Algeria.

Right-Wingers Win In Algerian Election

ALGIERS (AP)—An effort by a handful of liberals to give Algeria a balanced representation in the French National Assembly met with crushing defeat at the hands of right-wingers today.

Returns from the three-day legislative election still trickling in from the rebellious country indicated only one non right-wing group of candidates scored a victory.

Elsewhere in Algeria, candidates backed by Jacques Soustelle's Union for the New Republic and the extremist Public Safety Network defeated competing right-wing lists, all demanding continuation of French rule over Algeria.

Board To Act Tuesday On Election's Supplies

The County Election Board will meet Tuesday to award contracts for ballots and poll books for a special election Dec. 30 in the Beaver Local School District.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said ballot bids have been received from Keystone Printing Co. and Wilson Printing House, both of East Liverpool, and Dodge Publishing Co. of Salem.

The Columbus Blank Book Co. and Heer Printing Co., both of Columbus, and Johnson-Watson Printing Co. of Dayton have submitted bids for poll books.

The special election is on a combination $220,000 bond issue and half-mill levy which, if approved, would enable the district to qualify for $326,000 in state aid. Voters turned down a similar proposition at the Nov. 4 general election.

2 Granges Will Confer Degrees Tuesday Night

Calcutta Grange and Yellow Creek Grange will confer degrees on new members at a meeting Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the new Calcutta Grange Hall.

The Calcutta Grange will confer the second degree and the Yellow Creek Grange, the first degree. Lunch will be served by the host grange's home economics committee, with Mrs. Wayne Thompson as chairman.

Dwight Hickman, master of Calcutta Grange, will preside at business.

Akron Driver Hurt

Pledge

That in effect was a fresh rejection of the Soviet Union's Thanksgiving Day proposal for creation of a demilitarized "free" city of West Berlin. Moscow at the same time declared void the four-power occupation agreement for Berlin which was reached after World War II.

The Soviet note on its plan gave the western powers six months to enter into negotiation for establishment of a free city. The Russians added that failure to do so would put the plan into effect automatically at the end of that period.

The swift U.S. reaction was that Russia was proposing to keep its grip on East Berlin and have the western allies abandon their rights in West Berlin.

The State Department said the end result of the plan would be to surrender West Berlin to hostile domination.

Chester Boy Hospitalized

Sledding Mishaps Injure 4

A Chester area boy, hurt while sledding, was admitted to City Hospital Sunday and three other youngsters in sled mishaps were treated over the weekend. Nine other adults and children were treated following other accidents.

Edward White, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward White of Chester R. D. 1, is in "fairly good" condition with a fractured arm suffered in a sled accident on Fairview Rd. yesterday.

The youth was sledding on the Allison School Rd., near Chester when he skidded under an auto operated by Lawrence E. Quarterman, 27, of Peake St., East Liverpool.

West Virginia State Police said the youth was pinned under the auto, which had to be elevated on jacks to permit him and the sled to be removed. The mishap occurred at 2:15 p. m. Sunday.

Police said Quarterman's auto was equipped with chains and indicated that the accident was nearly unavoidable. However, they are conducting a further investigation.

Wayne Fulmer, 12, of Oak St., son of Mrs. Edith Fulmer, was treated Sunday for a laceration of the forehead suffered while sled riding.

Patty Simms, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stone, 313 Broadway, was treated yesterday for a cut lip received while sledding.

When his sled hit a tree Saturday, James Pillar, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Pillar, 2135 Harvey Ave., received a fractured wrist.

Mrs. Freda Phillips of Gaston Pl. was treated this morning for an injured right thumb suffered in a fall at St. Clair Ave. and Walnut St. yesterday.

Credo May of Lincoln Ave., Newell, was treated this morning for an injured right shoulder suffered in a fall on the way to work.

While firing a furnace at home yesterday, Harold Flowers, 28, of Dresden Ave. suffered slight burns of the face and ears when flames flared from the open door.

Kenneth Mooney, 28, of St. Clair Ave. received a laceration of the leg when bitten by a dog yesterday.

Mrs. Marie Russell, 410 W. 5th St., was treated Sunday for lacerations of fingers of a hand which became caught in a mixer at home.

William Watson, 48, of Washington St., Newell, suffered an injury of the left wrist in a fall on the street Saturday.

Debra McElroy, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McElroy of Owens Rd., Wellsville, received a cut of the scalp when she bumped her head at home Saturday.

Becky McDonald, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest McDonald of California Ave., Chester, received a forehead laceration Saturday when she bumped her head at home.

While playing football Saturday, Melvin Adkins, 10, son of Mrs. Bernice Adkins of 12 Midcrest, Midland, suffered a wrist injury.

Girl Scout 'Fiesta' Income Hits $630

With expenses yet to be paid, Mrs. Ralph Mackall, treasurer, reported approximately $630 was collected at the "Fiesta" sponsored by the East End Neighborhood Girl Scout Association Friday night at East Junior High School.

The proceeds will be used to purchase shrubs to beautify the grounds at East Junior High. Mrs. Mackall added that because adverse weather conditions cut attendance, she did not think enough money would be available to purchase as many shrubs as originally planned.

One of the feature attractions was Tony Graham, disc jockey from radio station WEEP in Pittsburgh, who was master of ceremonies and presented several free records at a dance held in the school auditorium.

General chairman was Mrs. Bernard Bowersock.

Clarkson

The United Presbyterian Women's Association will hold an all-day meeting Wednesday with Mrs. Velma Watson, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

A coverdish dinner will be served at noon. Mrs. Robert Smith will conduct devotions. A gift exchange will be held.

Mrs. Harry Thompson, president, will conduct a business session in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Smith and family returned Saturday from a visit with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Reihl of Waterford.

Mrs. Lessie McCoy is a patient at Salem City Hospital.

Holiday Traffic Deaths Reach 432 Over Nation

Traffic	432
Fires	48
Miscellaneous	113
Total	593

By The Associated Press

The nation's observance of the long Thanksgiving weekend was marred by a heavy death toll in violent accidents. As usual, traffic was the No. 1 killer.

The season's first major snowstorm was regarded as a big factor in a number of deaths on the highways. The cold weather also added to the number of violent deaths as a series of destructive fires took the lives of several persons, including many children.

Although the traffic death toll for the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday to midnight Sunday was high, it appeared the total was below the average for a comparable period.

No preholiday estimate of the traffic death toll was made by the National Safety Council but it said that 470 deaths on the highways could be expected in a 102-hour nonholiday weekend at this time of year.

The nation's traffic toll last year was 38,500, an average of about 105 a day. The Associated Press, for comparison purposes, made a survey in a 102-hour nonholiday weekend earlier last month and counted 394 traffic deaths. Other violent deaths for the period showed 32 in fires and 121 in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 547.

The record over-all accident deaths during a four-day holiday period was 884 set at Christmas 1956. Of the total, 707 were killed in traffic accidents.

At least four states, New York, Alabama, California and Illinois, each reported 20 or more deaths on the highways. New York led all states in total violent deaths with 36. Rhode Island was the only state not reporting any violent deaths.

Draft Quota Set At 9

LISBON — Columbiana County Draft Board 16 has received a call to provide nine men for induction in December. They will leave Dec. 9. The board will not send any men for physical exams this month.

'Recollection Day' Rites Of Kaycees Held At Wellsville

Fifty attended the "Day of Recollection" held Sunday afternoon at Wellsville Immaculate Conception Catholic Church by district Knights of Columbus Councils.

Fr. James Kolp of Youngstown Cardinal Mooney High School was guest speaker. Taking part were K. of C. units from East Liverpool, Wellsville, Lisbon, East Palestine and Salineville.

James McGowan, district deputy, was in charge.

Following the program, Cardinal Mercier Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, completed plans for a Communion breakfast Sunday morning at St. Ann Parish Hall in East End.

The breakfast will be served following the 10 a. m. Mass. Fr. Arthur Nist, pastor of St. Ann's and faithful friar of the assembly, will be celebrant.

Fr. Cronan T. Molloy, rector of St. John Vianney Seminary at Bloomingdale, will be guest speaker. Atty. Lawrence W. Smith, chairman, will be toastmaster. Frank R. O'Hanlon is faithful navigator.

District K. of C. units have been invited. Reservations are in charge of Atty. Smith and O'Hanlon and are due by Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Meets With Political Enemy

Adenauer Confers Upon West Berlin

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

BERLIN (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today held one of his rare meetings with his political enemy, Socialist Erich Ollenhauer, to discuss the Berlin situation.

They met in Bonn while a U.S. military train running to West Berlin was delayed for an hour by what Communist East German officials called a broken rail.

The U.S. Army accepted the Communist explanation — mindful that the incident was similar to those used by the Soviet Union before imposing the 1948-49 blockade of West Berlin. At that time, all land routes to the isolated city were closed for "technical reasons."

The Western Powers may use the six months Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given them to leave West Berlin to review demands for the unification of Germany by free elections.

Informants in the Communist-surrounded city said diplomats in the Western capitals were discussing a proposal to call for a big East-West conference, either on the summit or the foreign ministers level, to reopen the whole German problem.

This would include not only Berlin but German unification and a German peace treaty.

In his Thanksgiving Day note to the Western Powers, Khrushchev himself said the unification of Germany would be the best solution of all for the Berlin question. But he again insisted on the Soviet terms—a neutralized federation of the two Germanys, with the Sovietized part getting a say in the Western part.

The Western Allies contend that a peace treaty can be negotiated only with a sovereign all-German government freely elected. East Germany has never had a free election and for that reason is not recognized by the West.

The possibility of a high-level conference on Germany was raised further when Khrushchev declared at a Moscow reception Saturday that he would like to drink a toast again with the Soviet Union's wartime allies and discuss peacefully a Berlin solution at a "round table."

The British, French and Americans already have made clear they will turn down Khrushchev's proposal that West Berlin be made a demilitarized free city—which would be open to a Communist grab as soon as the 9,000 Western troops had withdrawn.

Alert to the possibility of a renewal of the blockade tactics of 1948-49, the U.S. Army reported one of its two daily military trains to Berlin was delayed for over an hour today.

East German officials said a broken rail was the cause of the delay, and American officers said they were satisfied the delay was not caused deliberately.

Engines on the military trains are manned by East German crews but there is an American commandant. West Berlin's rail, road and water links with West Germany cross 110 miles of East German territory and would be subject to East German control if the Soviet Union drops its duties as one of the four occupation powers in Berlin.

Walter Ulbricht, East Germany's Communist party boss, said in an interview with the New York Times over the weekend that the Western powers would be in for "unnecessary difficulties" if they tried to use these supply lines without East Germany's permission.

Gen. H. I. Hodes, commander of the U.S. Army in Europe, said on a visit that his 4,000-man force here had orders to deal with "any infringement of West Berlin." Any interference with the air, rail or highway supply lines would be regarded as "an infringement of our rights," he declared.

The West Berlin garrison was ready for any trouble, he said, adding, "We have plans for anything except going to the moon."

Fats, Leans To Compete In Tortellini Day

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — This hearty-eating city is going to find out who can eat the most—the fats or the leans.

The leans can weigh up to 165. The fats must weigh 210 or more.

They will compete in an eating contest Dec. 13.

Sponsors are the National Gastronomic Academy and the National Assn. of Chefs.

The ground rules warn: "The promoters disclaim any responsibility whatsoever for any damage real or imagined now or in the future to the health of contestants. They stuff at their own risk."

Contestants can come from anywhere in Italy.

Sole dish for the contest will be a standby, tortellini in brodo. The tortellini are little, round, meat-stuffed pastas, shaped like doughnuts and tasting like ravioli. They're served in rich broth.

Just to eliminate the pikers, contestants will have to gulp their way first through three bowls of tortellini—each dish weighing a pound—in 45 minutes.

Those who can still hoist a spoon and fork after that are in the finals.

They get one dish after another of the tortellini for 90 more minutes. The one who puts away the greatest poundage of it in that time is the winner.

He will be awarded a golden tortellini.

Gas Claims Man, Wife; Baby Girl May Survive

CLEVELAND (AP) — A four-month-old girl, whose parents died of asphyxiation in their four-room apartment, rallied early today at Mount Sinai Hospital and was given a chance to survive.

Nicholas Plishka, 25, was dead when found at noon Sunday. His wife, Anna Marie, 23, died at 4:30 p. m. without regaining consciousness. The baby, Deborah, was semi-conscious.

Relatives who had failed to reach the Plishkas by telephone called their landlord, Leo Kolegar, 66, who lives downstairs in the two-family house. He found the husband's body sprawled across the bed and the wife on the floor.

Police said windows of the apartment had been stuffed with putty, sealing the place, which was heated by a gas heater in the living room.

Uruguay Counts Votes After National Election

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) —Counting of votes from Uruguay's national elections went slowly today with the opposition National Blanco (White) party taking a slight lead in early returns.

Regardless of the outcome, government policy was not due to change much. Both the Nationals and the government Colorado (Red) party are pledged to a conservative policy and continued friendship with the United States.

It was estimated that about a million persons voted out of a total of 1,410,105 registered. But at midnight only 76,733 votes had been tabulated, with 31,173 going to the National party and 29,547 to the Colorados.

At stake were the nine seats on the National Council, which heads the government instead of a president; congressional seats; and provincial offices.

The Colorados have governed Uruguay for 93 years.

Garage On Dewey Ave. Damaged In Minor Fire

A minor garage fire and a false alarm were reported over the weekend by city firemen.

The fire in the garage of Floyd Galloway, 801 Dewey Ave., was out on arrival, according to firemen, who were called Saturday at 11:43 a. m.

Day Of Rest Changed

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union's day of rest this week has been changed—by official decree—from Sunday to Saturday. Moscow Radio reported the Cabinet decision today. Only reason given was that of "meeting the wishes of the working people."

Thorofare CELEBRATING IT'S $100,000,000 SALES for the FIRST TIME

Pittsburgh CELEBRATING IT'S BICENTENNIAL 1758-1958

Every Thorofare In The Tri-State Area Joins In The Celebrations!

This is a proud moment for all Thorofare people — past and present. Starting in 1938 with what P. H. Butler stores remained and with a sales volume of about 4 million dollars a year, the next 20 years' growth to $100,000,000.00 and beyond is a tribute to the hard work and inspiration of the employes serving the customers in the Pittsburgh, Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio communities which make up the Tri-State Area.

It is no accident that today Thorofare Markets alone represent a combination of the finest beef (Armour*Star Deluxe), the largest assortment of fine national brands, plus the pioneer of all customer pleasers S&H Green Stamps. We are proud of our beautiful markets with their big wide aisles, soft colors and lovely displays. But most of all we all take pride in the faith of our many thousands of customers in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio without whose loyal support we would not be able to celebrate this week of weeks. We can not think of a better way to thank you than with this one big week-long celebration sale—one we know you'll long remember.

With The Patients

Hans Frederick Dietz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Dietz, 205 California Ave., Chester, has returned home after two weeks at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Roy Pugh of Carolina Ave., Chester, is convalescing following his return from Weirton General Hospital, where he was a patient after a work mishap Nov. 19 at Toronto.

Angeline Ries of Midland was admitted Sunday at Rochester General Hospital. Discharged Saturday was Alvis Stephen and Sunday, Mrs. Edna Sonnhalter, both of Midland.

Just Memories

LIVINGSTON, N. J. (AP) — William Brown has two hulking keepsakes in his basement—the wheels from the first airplane ever to land at Newark Airport. He treasures them because he invented a device on the wheels that started them spinning before they touched down on the runway.

Double Double

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kremer became grand parents twice in the same day. Their daughters-in-law, Mrs. John R. Kremer, Jr., and Mrs. Donald B. Kremer — the former in Van Nuys, Cal., and the latter in Winchester — gave birth to baby boys on the same day.

Just Music Lover

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Donald G. Martindale, 20, was giving a peaceful organ recital in the Maywood Methodist Church when the police suddenly charged in and arrested him. It seems the church was closed at the time.

Trustees Set Meeting

HAMMONDSVILLE — Saline Township Board of Trustees will meet today at 4 p. m. at the Township House in Hammondsville, with only routine business expected. John Boyle will preside.

of power the surge blew fuses and knocked out the power at the schools.

As a result, some pipes in the heating system froze and burst, crippling the heating plant and making the buildings unfit for use in the current cold weather.

The heating plant at the Public School has been repaired, but the high school system still is not completely ready for use, George VanHorne, executive head, announced. Classes are slated to resume Tuesday he added.

Meanwhile work also is underway today at the high school to obtain an improved water supply from the well there. The low pressure and shortage of water has been bothersome at the school for some time and Saturday the well was deepened some 10 feet to the 140-foot level, VanHorne said.

When the school was built in 1956, the well had an adequate 55 feet of water standing in it. Recently the level has fallen to 30 feet of standing water. VanHorne said if the present deepening of the well proves unsatisfactory an auxiliary well will be drilled during the Christmas holiday.

The work is being done by the Horton Pump Co. of Columbiana.

The district's buildings and the number of pupils affected at each include: High School, 495; elementary building at Williamsport 672; Calcutta, 385; Elkton, 130; Oak Grove, 58; Rogers, 138, and West Point, 135.

Hancock County's three main highways—Routes 2, 30 and 66—were termed in "fair" condition for traveling, but officials at the Pughtown Garage of the West Virginia State Road Commission urged motorists to use chains whenever possible because of icy conditions.

Crews cindered and scraped the three main arteries over the weekend and turned their attention today to opening snow-clogged secondary roads in rural areas.

Percy Willison, supervisor, said crews were working in rural areas near New Cumberland today on secondary roads. All were termed passable, but very slippery and dangerous for traveling.

All schools in Hancock were open today and the county's 20 school buses all were running on schedule except for one that got stuck in a snow drift in Gas Valley near Pughtown.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville reported all main highways in the area are open although they are slippery in spots. Route 22 was blocked several times over the weekend by snow drifts of up to 4 feet.

Hazardous weather conditions forced postponment of a series of parachute drops Sunday at Herron Airport near Chester by a group of Beaver and Allegheny County parachute enthusiasts. W. E. Herron, airport manager, said that some 20 members of the Pittsburgh Parachute Club probably will arrange another date for the jumps when weather conditions are less risky.

Severe gusts of wind Saturday night resulted in a number of broken power lines in the county, the Ohio Edison Co. reported. Snapped branches and downed trees broke lines at Lisbon and elsewhere, officials at Salem said.

Lisbon's street lights were off from 6 p. m. until after 10 and a number of homes also were darkened. The Beaver Local schools along Route 7 suffered a lack of power which later caused damage to the heating systems.

Ohio Edison officials said Petersburg and North Lima also were without electricity for four hours after a main cable into North Lima was broken in two places.

Most county highways were in clear condition today, John (Dick) Neill, county highway supervisor, reported, and crews were ashing some areas this morning where melted snow froze yesterday.

The county crews worked Sunday helping township employes to keep school bus roads cleared, Neill said.

Main roads in the county were reported in good condition today by the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon, along with most secondary roads. But some lesser roadways still were slippery, officers said.

Travel conditions up to noon Sunday were hazardous throughout the area, officers reported, but the roads were put in fairly good condition later in the day by highway crews, the patrol said.

Motorists apparently took the advice of police and highway officials over the weekend and stayed off slippery streets.

Police said there were no reports of East Liverpool accidents Sunday and only two minor crashes Saturday.

A collision at 1:15 p. m. Saturday on Ogden St. involved a car operated by Spencer A. Risden, 79, of 605 W. 8th St. and a parked car of Richard F. Brewer, 1074 Peake St., police said.

Rudy Trbovich, 1048 Pennsylvania Ave., told officers his car was damaged by a hit-skip driver while parked on Virginia Ave. Friday or Saturday.

Police were told Saturday of a minor mishap Friday afternoon on Dresden Ave. Ext. when an auto operated by Marvella J. Moore, 2122 Lisbon St., was struck in the rear by a car driven by Farrell Carnes of Ohioville, Pa.

Street crews resumed work this morning in the city, clearing gutters and intersections in the downtown area and ashing streets.

Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin said one crew was working in the business district and three trucks were ashing side streets.

Crews worked until midnight Saturday and then turned out Sunday for two hours, Laughlin said.

Miscellaneous calls were received today, mostly for ashes.

Meanwhile, a third piece of equipment broke down over the weekend when a chain on an ash spreader broke. A highlift and truck broke down Friday during the snowstorm.

The truck is not expected to be back in service until the end of the week and a new clutch must be secured for the highlift, Laughlin said.

463 Attend 'Heidi' In Benefit Show

Some 463 persons ignored the snowstorm Friday and attended the afternoon performance of "Heidi" at the Westgate School auditorium in a benefit sponsored by the City Federation of Women's Clubs for funds to purchase shoes and clothing for needy children.

The snow delayed the performance for 30 minutes, however, as one of the key members of the cast was stranded temporarily on a hill back of Chester.

The play was staged by the Grace Price Productions of the Pittsburgh Children's Theatre of Pittsburgh.

Ohio Township Awaits Water Line Discussion

Daniel C. Baker, chairman of the Ohio Township Municipal Authority, announced today that members of the authority will meet in the Ohio Township fire hall Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. with township residents in the final session before negotiations are commenced with the bonding company for laying water lines in Ohio Township.

It will be an open meeting and members of the authority will answer questions. Property-owners may sign applications at the meeting, Baker said.

The fee of $200 is payable $25 on signing the application and $175 when the line is laid. Money will be refunded to persons who have signed the applications and who do not get service, Baker said.

Suspicious Cab Driver Brings Man's Arrest

BOSTON (AP)—Thomas H. McCarthy, 53, didn't tip a cab driver Sunday night. That may have been his undoing.

Police, put on his trail by the cab driver, booked him on suspicion of breaking and entering. They said they found his home crammed with air conditioning, radio and TV equipment and other articles.

They said McCarthy took the cab to a Brookline address, had the cab wait until he returned from an apartment house laden with a radio, TV set and a collection of silver, then drove to his home in the South End.

The cab driver said his suspicions, already aroused, didn't diminish when the man failed to give him a tip. He called police.

Bulldozer Runs Wild After Youths Jump Off

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Three boys who learned from an old Navy Seabee manual how to start a bulldozer, but didn't read far enough to find out how to stop it, were held on charges of grand larceny and malicious destruction of property today.

Police said the joy-riding youths leaped from the big machine when it started down hill. The bulldozer smashed through one house in which six persons were sleeping and damaged a second house with four persons in it.

Officers said the boys used a hacksaw to cut through a steel band padlocked around the starter of the bulldozer.

No one in the two houses was hurt. Names of the youths were withheld pending a hearing.

Four Ailing Elderly Persons Take Own Lives In Apartment

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Four persons, despondent over poor health, apparently each in turn took their own lives. Their bodies were found Sunday night in a South St. Louis apartment.

The three women and a man, all related, appeared to have been dead for several days.

They were identified by a relative as Arthur Forrester, 62, a salesman; his wife, Lucille, 65; Mrs. Forrester's mother Mrs. Mary Conkling, 86, a widow; and Miss Blanche Conkling, 66, Mrs. Forrester's sister.

The bodies were found by Tilton H. Conkling, a brother of the dead sisters. After trying for several days to contact them, he entered the apartment.

Officers found several notes, some signed by individuals and at least one with the signatures of all four of the dead.

One read, "Art is not responsible for Mom and me." It was found near Blanche Conkling's body.

Forrester, a commission salesman for a cookie company, had incurable lung cancer, fellow employes and his brother-in-law said. A coworker of Forrester's said when told of the deaths, "I'm not surprised."

Mrs. Forrester earlier this year had been in a mental institution and once had attempted to cut her throat, police said her brother told them.

Homicide officers said a newspaper dated Tuesday was the latest one in the room.

Tilton Conkling said he had been trying to reach the family since a week ago Sunday. Forrester had not reported for work for 10 days.

Forrester was found sitting upright on a davenport. A .22-caliber rifle was near him. Mrs. Forrester's body was in one bedroom. Mrs. Mary Conkling and Blanche Conkling were in a rear bedroom bed.

Officers said each person had apparently been shot through the mouth.

Another of the notes said, "Sickness the reason for this." It was signed by all four.

Libel Lawyer Dies

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Sidney L. Samuels, widely known libel lawyer, died Saturday. He had been bed-ridden since Sept. 22 when he fell, breaking an arm and leg. His law firm had been retained by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram for 41 years.

Byzantium, an ancient Greek city, occupied the most easterly of the Seven Hills of modern Istanbul.

Ernest Simpson Dies After Extended Illness

LONDON (AP) — Ernest Simpson, who lost his wife to King Edward VIII, died Sunday after a long illness. He was 62.

Simpson was the second husband of Wallis Warfield, the duchess of Windsor, who divorced him in 1937 and then married Edward VIII after he abdicated.

A successful and wealthy shipping broker, Simpson had suffered from a throat ailment for more than a year and had been hospitalized two weeks ago. His fourth wife was with him when he died.

Simpson and the duchess had remained friends after their divorce.

Alaskan Tests Set

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Ohio oil and nine other oil companies plan to conduct a million-dollar series of tests with special explosives on underwater lands of Cook Inlet near here. Non-injurious to fish, the tests will help the firms decide whether to make individual explorations.

Akron Driver Killed

IRWIN, Pa. (AP)—An Akron, Ohio, painter, Glenn H. Hay, 60, was killed Sunday when his car skidded across the medial strip and collided with an oncoming tractor-trailer truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Police said Hay's auto skidded on an icy spot near the Irwin interchange. The truck driver, Edward Petack of Detroit, Mich., suffered minor injuries.

Daniel C. Baker, chairman of the Ohio Township Municipal Authority, announced today that members of the authority will meet in the Ohio Township fire hall Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. with township residents in the final session before negotiations are commenced with the bonding company for laying water lines in Ohio Township.

It will be an open meeting and members of the authority will answer questions. Property-owners may sign applications at the meeting, Baker said.

The fee of $200 is payable $25 on signing the application and $175 when the line is laid. Money will be refunded to persons who have signed the applications and who do not get service, Baker said.

Suspicious Cab Driver Brings Man's Arrest

BOSTON (AP)—Thomas H. McCarthy, 53, didn't tip a cab driver Sunday night. That may have been his undoing.

Police, put on his trail by the cab driver, booked him on suspicion of breaking and entering. They said they found his home crammed with air conditioning, radio and TV equipment and other articles.

They said McCarthy took the cab to a Brookline address, had the cab wait until he returned from an apartment house laden with a radio, TV set and a collection of silver, then drove to his home in the South End.

The cab driver said his suspicions, already aroused, didn't diminish when the man failed to give him a tip. He called police.

Bulldozer Runs Wild After Youths Jump Off

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Three boys who learned from an old Navy Seabee manual how to start a bulldozer, but didn't read far enough to find out how to stop it, were held on charges of grand larceny and malicious destruction of property today.

Police said the joy-riding youths leaped from the big machine when it started down hill. The bulldozer smashed through one house in which six persons were sleeping and damaged a second house with four persons in it.

Officers said the boys used a hacksaw to cut through a steel band padlocked around the starter of the bulldozer.

No one in the two houses was hurt. Names of the youths were withheld pending a hearing.

Four Ailing Elderly Persons Take Own Lives In Apartment

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Four persons, despondent over poor health, apparently each in turn took their own lives. Their bodies were found Sunday night in a South St. Louis apartment.

The three women and a man, all related, appeared to have been dead for several days.

They were identified by a relative as Arthur Forrester, 62, a salesman; his wife, Lucille, 65; Mrs. Forrester's mother Mrs. Mary Conkling, 86, a widow; and Miss Blanche Conkling, 66, Mrs. Forrester's sister.

The bodies were found by Tilton H. Conkling, a brother of the dead sisters. After trying for several days to contact them, he entered the apartment.

Officers found several notes, some signed by individuals and at least one with the signatures of all four of the dead.

One read, "Art is not responsible for Mom and me." It was found near Blanche Conkling's body.

Forrester, a commission salesman for a cookie company, had incurable lung cancer, fellow employes and his brother-in-law said. A coworker of Forrester's said when told of the deaths, "I'm not surprised."

Mrs. Forrester earlier this year had been in a mental institution and once had attempted to cut her throat, police said her brother told them.

Homicide officers said a newspaper dated Tuesday was the latest one in the room.

Tilton Conkling said he had been trying to reach the family since a week ago Sunday. Forrester had not reported for work for 10 days.

Forrester was found sitting upright on a davenport. A .22-caliber rifle was near him. Mrs. Forrester's body was in one bedroom. Mrs. Mary Conkling and Blanche Conkling were in a rear bedroom bed.

Officers said each person had apparently been shot through the mouth.

Another of the notes said, "Sickness the reason for this." It was signed by all four.

Libel Lawyer Dies

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Sidney L. Samuels, widely known libel lawyer, died Saturday. He had been bed-ridden since Sept. 22 when he fell, breaking an arm and leg. His law firm had been retained by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram for 41 years.

Byzantium, an ancient Greek city, occupied the most easterly of the Seven Hills of modern Istanbul.

Ernest Simpson Dies After Extended Illness

LONDON (AP) — Ernest Simpson, who lost his wife to King Edward VIII, died Sunday after a long illness. He was 62.

Simpson was the second husband of Wallis Warfield, the duchess of Windsor, who divorced him in 1937 and then married Edward VIII after he abdicated.

A successful and wealthy shipping broker, Simpson had suffered from a throat ailment for more than a year and had been hospitalized two weeks ago. His fourth wife was with him when he died.

Simpson and the duchess had remained friends after their divorce.

Alaskan Tests Set

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Ohio oil and nine other oil companies plan to conduct a million-dollar series of tests with special explosives on underwater lands of Cook Inlet near here. Non-injurious to fish, the tests will help the firms decide whether to make individual explorations.

Akron Driver Killed

IRWIN, Pa. (AP)—An Akron, Ohio, painter, Glenn H. Hay, 60, was killed Sunday when his car skidded across the medial strip and collided with an oncoming tractor-trailer truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Police said Hay's auto skidded on an icy spot near the Irwin interchange. The truck driver, Edward Petack of Detroit, Mich., suffered minor injuries.

Kaye Madison Given $6,000 On Quiz Show

Miss Kaye Madison of Salineville received $6,000 Saturday night as her share of a $12,000 prize on the nationally-televised show, "Brains and Brawn," in which she teamed with Lou (The Toe) Groza, kicking artist of the Cleveland Browns professional football team.

Miss Madison and Groza, ending two weeks of competition, wound up in a deadlock with another "brains and brawn" combination, Miss Jane Moorefield of Oregon State College and Sam Baker of the Washington Redskins pro team.

Miss Madison is a senior at Ohio State University and Groza is an alumnus. Baker is a graduate of Oregon State.

Each team had won $12,000 when the show ended Saturday night. As each team of competitors appears only two weeks, the contest was declared a tie and the prize money was split four ways. Each of the teams also won a 1959 station wagon.

The two football stars competed in place-kicking and the girls were tested for general knowledge.

As the show opened Saturday night, each team had won $3,000 as a result of the first program Nov. 15. The Oregon State pair pulled ahead rapidly in the early stages, but Miss Madison achieved the tie by besting the other coed in a 9-part question. She answered 8 of 9 parts, while Miss Moorefield answered only 4 of 9.

The Salineville girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Madison of Main St. The Saturday night show was televised in 5-degree weather from Cleveland Municipal Stadium.

Fatal Accident Ruled In Mahoning County

SALEM — The traffic accident in which a 16-year-old Salem boy was killed Thursday night on Pine Lake Rd. about three miles from here occurred in Mahoning County, authorities said today.

Gerald Jensen was killed when the car in which he was riding, driven by Ronald Ackerman, 16, also of Salem, hit a culvert after going off the road. Ronald Shoop, 17, of Salem another passenger, also was injured. At the time, authorities were not sure whether the fatality occurred in Columbiana or Mahoning County.

Hospital Association Obtains Rate Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Hospital Service Assn. of Licking County has received permission to increase rates for about 3,700 contract holders.

Arthur I. Vorys, state superintendent of insurance, said the increase, prompted by higher hospital costs, will boost revenue of the association about $20,000 a year.

Effective Jan. 1, the higher rates will range from $3.30 a month for 30-day standard, direct-pay single contracts to $5.50 a month for the 120-day standard payroll deduction family contract.

Dies Of Heart Attack

CHICAGO (AP) — Howard L. Nussbaum, 47, a former National Broadcasting Co. official in New York and a retired Air Force colonel, died Sunday of a heart ailment. He was director of programs for NBC in 1941 when he was called to active duty in the Air Force.

McDevitt Encouraged By Wellsville's Pre-Season Drills

The Review Sports

MONDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1958 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 18

Dan Baldwin Squad's Only Letter Winner

By ROB NIBLOCK

Though lacking seasoned performers, several promising candidates and a good showing in the preview have caused Coach Jack McDevitt to adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude regarding his Wellsville basketball team, which opens its season at home tomorrow night against a classy Midland outfit.

Ironically, McDevitt is facing almost the same problem which confronted him when he took over at Wellsville last season.

He has only one returning letterman, Dan Baldwin — who last year was the lone letter-winning returnee — and four untried starters. But unlike last year's team, which posted a 6-12 regular season mark with four seniors in its starting ranks, the 1958-59 quint includes four underclassmen.

WITH LACK of experience cited as the big deficit, and a shortage of outside shooters and speed mentioned as additional liabilities, McDevitt comments that he would be "pleased" to finish with a .500 season.

In a more optimistic vein, the young mentor added that the team's rebound strength — three starters are over six feet — and the play-making and shooting ability of Baldwin could help to close the inexperience gap.

Baldwin, a 6-1 senior center, averaged nearly 17 per game in scoring 303 points in 18 regular-season games last year. He also clicked for 21 points in a tourney contest with Jefferson Union.

BALDWIN, who had high nights of 26 points against Salem and 27 against Goshen Union during the 1957-58 season, is being counted on by McDevitt to supply the offensive spark.

Bob Kiggans, a 6-foot, 2 - inch sophomore, is the team's tallest man and will open at a forward spot. Up from last year's reserves, Kiggans shot specialty seems to be a jump from short range.

Franklin Jackson, who gained reserve and some varsity experience in the 1957-58 campaign, will start at the other forward. The 6-foot, 1-inch junior has shown definite promise in workouts and in the preview test. Being stationed under the board in the Wellsville attack, his good variety of shots, rebounding ability and ease of motions make him a strong offensive threat.

Another junior, Milton Lamp, 5-feet, 8-inches, will be at one of the guard posts. A reservist last season, he will team up with sophomore Bill DeSarro, 5-feet, 6-inches, in the back court. DeSarro is getting his first crack at varsity competition.

McDEVITT feels that he has a fairly sound bench, having a few seniors with some varsity experience as second - line reserve strength. Dick Kountz, 5-feet, 8-inches, should see action at a guard post. Others who could make appearances against Midland are Ray Franklin, Bob Walker, Dick Wilk, Mac Comparetta and Phil Baldwin.

Playing two one-quarter affairs in the preview at Toronto last week, Wellsville had a commanding 16-8 lead over East Liverpool when the gun sounded and trailed Steubenville Central by only one point, 6-7, when the other ended.

"Midland," he said, "will offer one of the season's stiffest tests—and I think we may be a bit outclassed."

McDevitt, who begins his second year at the Wellsville helm, is a 1945 graduate of Wells High, Newell. He replaced Tink Healey, who he had assisted, after the 1956-57 season. He is a graduate of Fairmont State Teachers College in West Virginia.

Carl Firm, a graduate of Kent State University, will be McDevitt's assistant, coaching the reserve squad.

No. 1 Louisiana State Will Be Foe

Sugar Bowl Hit For Picking Clemson

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Sugar Bowl Committee promises a tough battle between Clemson and Louisiana State on New Year's Day. But Clemson's selection to face the nation's No. 1 team has left many football fans with a saccharine taste.

The twice-beaten South Carolina outfit accepted a Sugar Bowl invitation Saturday after trimming outmanned Furman 36-19 for its eighth victory. LSU, unbeaten and untied and almost untested in 10 games, walked into the Sugar Bowl after clobbering Tulane 62-0 the previous Saturday.

The critics cited Clemson's defeats by South Carolina and Georgia Tech, comparatively soft touches this season. Clemson also was unimpressive against Furman last Saturday. The Atlantic Coast Conference champions had a 30-0 halftime lead but Furman pushed across three touchdowns in the second half and actually edged Clemson in first down during the game.

There were reports that the Sugar Bowl had all but selected Clemson some weeks ago. The logic behind that argument was that the Sugar Bowl was hampered by Louisiana's 1956 segregation law which required separate seating facilities for white and Negro spectators.

What team did the Clemson detractors offer in place of the 12th-ranked Tigers? The most prominently mentioned was Southern Methodist, a 20-13 winner last Saturday over Cotton Bowl-bound Texas Christian.

SMU Athletic Director Matty Bell was among the most bitter of the objectors. The Sugar Bowl, he complained, invited Clemson while the SMU-TCU game was still in progress.

Bowl-Bound Teams Get Ready For Tests

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bowl-bound college football teams began pointing toward postseason games today. But one couldn't blame Louisiana State, California and Syracuse for showing more determination than the others.

LSU, the nation's only major undefeated and untied team, will make it's fifth appearance in the Sugar Bowl. The Bayou Tigers have yet to win a bowl game. This will be their sixth bowl trip, fifth to the New Orleans classic. Clemson, LSU's opponent, will be playing in the Sugar Bowl for the first time, but has a 3-2 record in other bowl competition.

California is 2-4-1 in the Rose Bowl. Iowa, the Bears' New Year's Day foe, has a 35-19 victory over Oregon State in 1957 to show for its only outing in Pasadena.

Syracuse, which meets Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, has had only one previous experience in that game. It emerged with a 61-6 pasting by Alabama in 1953. Oklahoma has won its last three in the Miami Jan. 1 game after losing to Tennessee in 1939.

Among the minor bowls, Hardin Simmons (6-4) won the Border Conference title Friday and was named to oppose Wyoming (7-3), the Skyline champ, in the Sun Bowl.

Clemson earned a shot at Louisiana State by defeating Furman 36-19 Saturday. The Air Force Academy accepted a Cotton Bowl bid after whipping Colorado 20-14. Mississippi blanked Mississippi State 21-0. Florida edged Miami 12-9.

Army, which frowns on postseason competition, put away its first unbeaten season since 1949 by licking Navy 22-6. The Cadets, with only an Oct. 25 tie with Pittsburgh to mar their record, finished strong against the Middies.

Auburn, second to LSU in the current Associated Press rankings but banned from bowl play, nipped Alabama 14-8; Southern Methodist beat Texas Christian 20-13; Oklahoma defeated Oklahoma State 7-0; and Notre Dame came from behind to beat Southern California 20-13.

McDevitt Encouraged By Wellsville's Pre-Season Drills

Dan Baldwin Squad's Only Letter Winner

By ROB NIBLOCK

Though lacking seasoned performers, several promising candidates and a good showing in the preview have caused Coach Jack McDevitt to adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude regarding his Wellsville basketball team, which opens its season at home tomorrow night against a classy Midland outfit.

Ironically, McDevitt is facing almost the same problem which confronted him when he took over at Wellsville last season.

He has only one returning letterman, Dan Baldwin — who last year was the lone letter-winning returnee — and four untried starters. But unlike last year's team, which posted a 6-12 regular season mark with four seniors in its starting ranks, the 1958-59 quint includes four underclassmen.

WITH LACK of experience cited as the big deficit, and a shortage of outside shooters and speed mentioned as additional liabilities, McDevitt comments that he would be "pleased" to finish with a .500 season.

In a more optimistic vein, the young mentor added that the team's rebound strength — three starters are over six feet — and the play-making and shooting ability of Baldwin could help to close the inexperience gap.

Baldwin, a 6-1 senior center, averaged nearly 17 per game in scoring 303 points in 18 regular-season games last year. He also clicked for 21 points in a tourney contest with Jefferson Union.

BALDWIN, who had high nights of 26 points against Salem and 27 against Goshen Union during the 1957-58 season, is being counted on by McDevitt to supply the offensive spark.

It appears that a pair of sophomores and two juniors will join Baldwin as starters tomorrow night against the Leopards.

Bob Kiggans, a 6-foot, 2-inch sophomore, is the team's tallest man and will open at a forward spot. Up from last year's reserves, Kiggans shot specialty seems to be a jump from short range.

Franklin Jackson, who gained reserve and some varsity experience in the 1957-58 campaign, will start at the other forward. The 6-foot, 1-inch junior has shown definite promise in workouts and in the preview test. Being stationed under the board in the Wellsville attack, his good variety of shots, rebounding ability and ease of motions make him a strong offensive threat.

Another junior, Milton Lamp, 5-feet, 8-inches, will be at one of the guard posts. A reservist last season, he will team up with sophomore Bill DeSarro, 5-feet, 6-inches, in the back court. DeSarro is getting his first crack at varsity competition.

McDEVITT feels that he has a fairly sound bench, having a few seniors with some varsity experience as second-line reserve strength. Dick Kountz, 5-feet, 8-inches, should see action at a guard post. Others who could make appearances against Midland are Ray Franklin, Bob Walker, Dick Wilk, Mac Comparetta and Phil Baldwin.

Playing two one-quarter affairs in the preview at Toronto last week, Wellsville had a commanding 16-8 lead over East Liverpool when the gun sounded and trailed Steubenville Central by only one point, 6-7, when the other ended.

Although McDevitt was pleased with the team's showing, he cautioned that the abbreviated contests are not a good indication of how they will stand up for four full quarters.

"Midland," he said, "will offer one of the season's stiffest tests—and I think we may be a bit outclassed."

McDevitt, who begins his second year at the Wellsville helm, is a 1945 graduate of Wells High, Newell. He replaced Tink Healey, who he had assisted, after the 1956-57 season. He is a graduate of Fairmont State Teachers College in West Virginia.

Baltimore at Los Angeles

Moore and Unitas turned in first rate performances as Baltimore (9-1) captured its first crown since entering the league in 1950.

With little more than 11 minutes remaining, the Colts still trailed 27-21 after scoring at the outset of the final period. Moore stepped front and center. He danced down the sidelines, cut back to the center of the field, then forged straight ahead to complete a 73-yard maneuver that tied it. Steve Myrha's conversion put Baltimore ahead.

A fitting climax saw Unitas—still sheathed in an aluminum harness to protect his injured ribs—pass seven yards to Ray Berry for an insurance tally. It was the 23rd consecutive game in which Unitas has thrown for a TD, tying Cecil Isbell's NFL record.

The battle for the Eastern Division title remained tight as first place Cleveland defeated Washington 21-14 and maintained a one-game lead over runner-up New York. The Giants beat Philadelphia 24-10 and seem headed for a showdown with the Browns in New York Dec. 14—the last day of the regular season.

In the only other game, Los Angeles defeated Chicago's Cardinals 20-14. Detroit and Green Bay played Thanksgiving Day.

The 49ers took a 27-7 lead in the first half, mainly on the passing of veteran Y. A. Tittle. The only Colt score in the half came on a three-yard plunge by Unitas. Two short scoring bursts by Alan Ameche, capping drives spearheaded by Unitas' pinpoint aerials brought the Colts within striking distance. Then Moore took over.

THIS CATCH by Steeler Jimmy Orr, in dark jersey, was the play that broke the back of the Chicago Bears in Sunday's game at Pitt Stadium. The pass from Bobby Lane broke a 10-10 tie in the fourth quarter and the Steelers went on to win 24-10. (UPI Telephoto)

Training Injury Fatal To Champion Trotter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Merrie Annabelle, winner of $45,000 and this year's world champion 2-year-old trotter, is dead as the result of a training injury.

She died Sunday at Ohio State University, where she was being treated. The trotter was brought here from Lexington, Ky., after the Oct. 2 accident. In Cleveland, owner Byron Kuth said he had been offered $150,000 for the filly the day before the accident. She was purchased for $4,000.

Merrie Annabelle held five world's records, including the first two-minute mile ever run by a 2-year-old filly and the fastest half-mile.

Minor League Parley Begins

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The major leagues' annual draft and the expected realignment agreement between the American Assn. and the Texas League highlighted the opening of the annual Minor League Convention today.

Another important event was the scheduled meeting of the major league player representatives to plan their campaign to obtain a percentage of television and radio fees for regular season games.

There could be even less than last year when only 11 minor leaguers were purchased, at a cost of $135,000. Only three of the players selected then — Kansas City's Harry Chiti, Cleveland's Gary Geiger and the Chicago Cubs' Tony Taylor — remained in the big leagues all year.

This marks the first year that the rule providing for an unrestricted draft of players with four years in organized baseball is in effect. A brand new draft proposal, one that would make all players eligible after only one year of pro ball, is on the agenda.

Perhaps more eagerly awaited than the player draft was the announcement of a deal that would transfer the franchises of the Double A Texas League's Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth clubs to the Triple A American Assn.

The two leagues, after weeks of negotiation, finally reached a point where only a matter of $35,000 stood between them.

The AA, anxious to stabilize its circuit which now constitutes only seven clubs, offered to pay $50,000 indemnity to the Texas League for its three top clubs. The Texas League countered with a request for $85,000 after originally demanding $120,000. The two leagues were scheduled to meet again today to settle the difference.

A provision of the agreement was that the Texas League, which expected to turn to the western league for its replacements, would be guaranteed major league working agreements.

Although no mention was made regarding the replacements, it was reported that Amarillo, Albuquerque and Wichita stood high on the list.

College Cage Play Gets Under Way

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball opens with a bang tonight.

Kentucky, the NCAA champion, and West Virginia, ranked No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll last season, take the floor to top the action.

Other games find Cincinnati and its famed Oscar Robertson pitted against Indiana State, Indiana's defending Big Ten champs against Drake, Pitt at Michigan, Penn State at North Carolina State, Gettysburg at Temple, Rice at Kansas, Colorado at Iowa, Purdue at Kansas State and Western Michigan at Northwestern.

By Saturday night, virtually all major teams will be in action.

The Kent State (Ohio) and Idaho State invitational tournaments start Friday.

Tennessee meets Michigan and Kent State battles Wyoming in the first round of the Kent State tourney. It's Utah State vs. Idaho State and Portland vs. Montana in the first of the Idaho State affair. The two winners in each tourney battle for the championship Saturday night.

Robertson, who will appear in New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday against St. John's, is expected to dominate the headlines during the season along with Pitt's little Don Hennon.

Kentucky, the surprise of last season, is expected to get stiff opposition for the Southeastern Conference title this year from Mississippi State and Auburn. Northwestern and Purdue are the early favorites in the Big Ten while Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Texas Tech are doped to battle it out for the Southwest Conference title.

Dartmouth is rated high in the Ivy League and Kansas State is rated the choice in the Big Eight. Cincinnati, of course, is favored in the Missouri Valley, with the Atlantic Coast Conference race between Duke, Maryland, North Carolina and N. C. State. West Virginia, as usual, is expected to retain its Southern Conference crown.

Rosenbluth Wins For Philadelphia

By The Associated Press

Lennie Rosenbluth, the lanky former All-America scoring whiz from North Carolina, has been a mere benchwarmer with the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Assn.

In his first pro season a year ago, he averaged about four points a game. The latest NBA statistics show him with a 3-point average and five minutes played each game.

Sunday, however, Rosenbluth produced when the Warriors needed him. He scored four points in the final 37 seconds and Philadelphia nailed a 103-100 victory over the New York Knickerbockers.

Rosenbluth dropped in a long one-hander and two free throws to enable the Warriors to snap a two-game losing streak. Woody Saulsberry paced the Warriors with 25 points while Richie Guerin led New York with 28.

In another NBA game, Elgin Baylor, an All-America last year at Seattle, paced a fourth quarter drive that carried Minneapolis to an 84-77 triumph over Cincinnati Sunday night.

Baylor tied the score at 68-all with a jump shot and a basket by Boo Ellis sent the Lakers into the lead. Baylor finished with 21 points. Dave Piontek had 22 points for the Royals who have lost 15 of 18 games.

Saturday night, the Lakers beat Syracuse 108-105. In other Saturday games, New York defeated Philadelphia 115-103, St. Louis whipped Cincinnati 98-86 and Boston turned back Detroit 110-96.

Pros Conduct Player Draft

The 12 pro clubs draft a total of 48 players from the 1958 college grab bag.

Green Bay, last in the league with a 1-8-1 record, was first under the system whereby the teams draft according to their standings after Sunday's games, last to first.

The Packers were expected to grab a quarterback for their first choice. Top consideration was expected to be Randy Duncan, Iowa; Lee Grosscup, Utah, and Tommy Greene, Holy Cross.

Following Green Bay the order was a tossup between Philadelphia and the Chicago Cardinals, who are tied; Washington, San Francisco, Detroit, then a three-way tie among Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and the Chicago Bears; New York, Cleveland and Baltimore.

Each team is entitled to four choices. But previous trades whereby veterans were dealt for future draft choices have created a situation where Los Angeles gets nine picks, Detroit seven and Cleveland five in today's meeting.

Colts Win Western Division Title In 'Hollywood' Finish

Get 21 Points In 4th Period Against 49ers

By MIKE RATHET

Lenny Moore's choreographer and Johnny Unitas' script writer fashioned a brilliant last act as the Baltimore Colts won their first Western Conference championship in the National Football League.

The come-from-behind Colts did it the hard way Sunday, striking for 21 points in the final quarter and defeating San Francisco 35-27.

Saturday, Dec. 6

Baltimore at Los Angeles

At the same time, the runner-up Chicago Bears were eliminated as they lost their first game ever to Pittsburgh, bowing 24-10.

Moore and Unitas turned in first rate performances as Baltimore (9-1) captured its first crown since entering the league in 1950.

With little more than 11 minutes remaining, the Colts still trailed 27-21 after scoring at the outset of the final period. Moore stepped front and center. He danced down the sidelines, cut back to the center of the field, then forged straight ahead to complete a 73-yard maneuver that tied it. Steve Myrha's conversion put Baltimore ahead.

A fitting climax saw Unitas—still sheathed in an aluminum harness to protect his injured ribs—pass seven yards to Ray Berry for an insurance tally. It was the 23rd consecutive game in which Unitas has thrown for a TD, tying Cecil Isbell's NFL record.

The battle for the Eastern Division title remained tight as first place Cleveland defeated Washington 21-14 and maintained a one-game lead over runner-up New York. The Giants beat Philadelphia 24-10 and seem headed for a showdown with the Browns in New York Dec. 14—the last day of the regular season.

In the only other game, Los Angeles defeated Chicago's Cardinals 20-14. Detroit and Green Bay played Thanksgiving Day.

The 49ers took a 27-7 lead in the first half, mainly on the passing of veteran Y. A. Tittle. The only Colt score in the half came on a three-yard plunge by Unitas. Two short scoring bursts by Alan Ameche, capping drives spearheaded by Unitas' pinpoint aerials brought the Colts within striking distance. Then Moore took over.

THIS CATCH by Steeler Jimmy Orr, in dark jersey, was the play that broke the back of the Chicago Bears in Sunday's game at Pitt Stadium. The pass from Bobby Lane broke a 10-10 tie in the fourth quarter and the Steelers went on to win 24-10. (UPI Telephoto)

Overhead Garage Doors Need Good Lubrication

The overhead garage door is one of the really basically good ideas that have come along in the past decade.

When they are opened, they stay open, if properly adjusted and balanced. They cannot be blown and warped by wind and they are completely out of your way when swung overhead.

In spite of the good points, however, any door of this type is liable to become something other than perfect after several years of use and many thousands of ups and downs.

Nine times out of 10 the trouble will be caused by the gradual loss of tension in the two large coil springs that balance the weight of the door and make it so easy to operate.

The cure for this difficulty lies in taking up on the adjustable nut which compresses the springs and by means of which they will exert more or less power. If the springs of the door are not adjustable, the cables which run over the pulleys can be shortened slightly so as to put more tension on the springs.

Doors of the overhead type have several hinged panels so that the door can bend to follow the curve of the tracks. The hinges on these panels should be kept lubricated.

The pulley wheels and the wheels which run in the grooved tracks on either side of the door likewise need a bit of oil now and then. In short, wherever a wheel turns or a hinge moves there should be a lubricant.

The main difficulty with this type of door is that in freezing weather the bottom edge may freeze to the floor of the garage or to the apron. If a piece of quarter-round molding is placed along the outside lower edge of the door, it will act as a drip-bead and prevent it.

THERE ARE EIGHT ROOMS in this colonial split level, which has a habitable area of 2,093 square feet. The bedroom wing, not shown in the plan above, has space for three bedrooms, two baths and a center hall. The plan, HA42-Y, is by Architect Herman H. York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N. Y.

Here Are Some Useful Tips For Inexperienced Painters

The amateur painter usually can be detected by the amount of paint spattered on the shrubbery or whatever else is near the base of the house. And the higher he goes on the ladder the more spots will be found beneath him.

away with little or no preparation before he actually starts to spread paint, but the amateur who lacks skill in handling a brush will do well to use drop cloths all around the base of the house.

The drop cloth used by professional painters is usually made of

A professional painter can get medium weight canvas and is about 6 feet wide and 12 to 20 feet long. But an old sheet, or even newspaper, is better than nothing and may well save a lot of time in cleaning up after the painting is done.

Painting a house is quite a project, but in spit of that, more and more home owners are attempting the job themselves. There is no reason why they should not, and so save the labor cost which is about 70 per cent of the average paint job.

If an experienced man were asked about the essentials for a good solid paint job, he probably would start with the advice that the paint be thoroughly mixed according to the directions found on the paint can.

He probably would repeat another piece of advice found on all cans to the effect that the surface to be painted must be dry.

He would add that all loose paint be scraped or sanded off, holes puttied, seams and cracks caulked, protruding nails driven home and surfaces dusted. Above all else, he certainly would advise that you take your time and not attempt to finish with speed, for one cannot paint neatly and thoroughly as well as quickly.

50,000 Traffic Deaths Are Warned Of In '66

CHICAGO (AP) — A safety expert today predicted traffic accidents will cost 50,000 lives in 1966 unless effective action is taken.

Henry J. Hoeffer, assistant general manager of the National Safety Council, also stated that the annual toll eight years hence could include 1,900,000 injuries and an economic loss of seven billion dollars.

Hoeffer noted, for comparison, that traffic fatalities numbered 38,500 last year.

"You will be shocked to hear," he said, "that 1,081,600 people lost their lives as traffic fatalities between Jan. 1, 1925, and Jan. 1, 1958."

'Soft Water' Will Lighten Home Chores

CHICAGO — If you're a housewife who has to use hard water, you're not as good a housekeeper as you would like to be, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

It's not your fault, the bureau explains — hard water gets in your way. It won't let you do the best possible job in cleaning, washing dishes and clothes and other household chores that require water.

It gets in your way and prevents effective results because the very characteristics that make hard water keep the cleansing properties of soap or synthetic detergents from doing the job for which they're intended.

In hard water, up to half of the cleaning solution must combat the hardness of the water itself, while the remaining half goes to work on dirt. When soft water is used, the cleaning ingredient helps you clean, meaning — besides the fact that you'll use smaller amounts of soap or synthetic detergent — that you'll accomplish a better all-around job.

And rinsing with soft water, whether of floors, windows, dishes or clothes, can be done in only one operation. Soft water gives up the soap or synthetic detergent in one rinse, whereas hard water creates a soap curd that requires several additional rinsings.

Water - softening equipment is so easily available today that home owners should consider having a softener when purchasing a new home or when they want to better their living in their present home.

Airliner Is Searched After False Bomb Call

DALLAS (AP)—A man called Delta Airlines Sunday night and said, "I think you ought to know there is a bomb on your 7:30 flight to New Orleans."

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make a liver and cucumber salad?

A. Use 1½ pounds of broiled and chopped liver, 1 medium-sized cucumber diced; 1 onion diced, and mayonnaise. Chill the broiled liver, cut into small pieces, mix with the other ingredients and serve on a lettuce leaf.

Q. How can I determine the correct height of a kitchen table when buying a new one?

A. This can be determined by placing the palms of the hands flat on the top of the table with out stooping.

Q. How can I prevent the ink from spreading, when marking linen?

A. Use a lead pencil for drawing the letters, then trace exactly over these with the ink.

Overhead Garage Doors Need Good Lubrication

The overhead garage door is one of the really basically good ideas that have come along in the past decade.

When they are opened, they stay open, if properly adjusted and balanced. They cannot be blown and warped by wind and they are completely out of your way when swung overhead.

In spite of the good points, however, any door of this type is liable to become something other than perfect after several years of use and many thousands of ups and downs.

Nine times out of 10 the trouble will be caused by the gradual loss of tension in the two large coil springs that balance the weight of the door and make it so easy to operate.

The cure for this difficulty lies in taking up on the adjustable nut which compresses the springs and by means of which they will exert more or less power. If the springs of the door are not adjustable, the cables which run over the pulleys can be shortened slightly so as to put more tension on the springs.

Doors of the overhead type have several hinged panels so that the door can bend to follow the curve of the tracks. The hinges on these panels should be kept lubricated.

The pulley wheels and the wheels which run in the grooved tracks on either side of the door likewise need a bit of oil now and then. In short, wherever a wheel turns or a hinge moves there should be a lubricant.

The main difficulty with this type of door is that in freezing weather the bottom edge may freeze to the floor of the garage or to the apron. If a piece of quarter-round molding is placed along the outside lower edge of the door, it will act as a drip-bead and prevent it.

THERE ARE EIGHT ROOMS in this colonial split level, which has a habitable area of 2,093 square feet. The bedroom wing, not shown in the plan above, has space for three bedrooms, two baths and a center hall. The plan, HA42-Y, is by Architect Herman H. York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N. Y.

Here Are Some Useful Tips For Inexperienced Painters

The amateur painter usually can be detected by the amount of paint spattered on the shrubbery or whatever else is near the base of the house. And the higher he goes on the ladder the more spots will be found beneath him.

away with little or no preparation before he actually starts to spread paint, but the amateur who lacks skill in handling a brush will do well to use drop cloths all around the base of the house.

The drop cloth used by professional painters is usually made of

A professional painter can get medium weight canvas and is about 6 feet wide and 12 to 20 feet long. But an old sheet, or even newspaper, is better than nothing and may well save a lot of time in cleaning up after the painting is done.

Painting a house is quite a project, but in spit of that, more and more home owners are attempting the job themselves. There is no reason why they should not, and so save the labor cost which is about 70 per cent of the average paint job.

If an experienced man were asked about the essentials for a good solid paint job, he probably would start with the advice that the paint be thoroughly mixed according to the directions found on the paint can.

He probably would repeat another piece of advice found on all cans to the effect that the surface to be painted must be dry.

He would add that all loose paint be scraped or sanded off, holes puttied, seams and cracks caulked, protruding nails driven home and surfaces dusted. Above all else, he certainly would advise that you take your time and not attempt to finish with speed, for one cannot paint neatly and thoroughly as well as quickly.

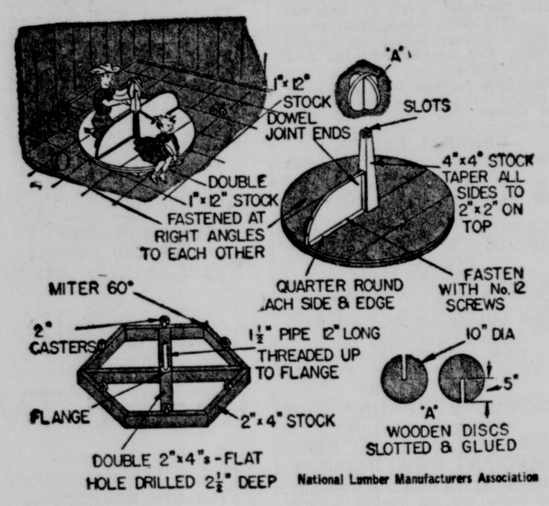
Toy Carousel Provides Fun For The Youngster



For the small child, a toy carousel provides active play, both indoors and outdoors.

Make the base of 2-by-4-inch lumber, mitering each of the six sides at 60-degree angles.

If the outside dimension of each side is 20 inches, the longest measurement across the base will be 40 inches. In other words, twice the length of one side is the longest measurement across the base, and this will be the minimum diameter of the platform.

After cutting the 60-degree angles for each side, lay out the exterior of the base and measure the distance for the cross members. The member into which the axle pipe is placed consists of two pieces of 2-by-4-inch lumber placed with the 4-sides together. The other cross braces consist of two shorter lengths of 2-by-4-inch lumber placed on edge.

Using a dowel-hole guide, drill holes in the ends of the outer base members to accommodate a ½-inch dowel; two dowels to each joint. Glue the outer rim together and before the glue has set, insert the cross braces and nail through the rim into the braces with 16-penny common nails.

Bore holes in the centers of the upper edges of each rim piece to accommodate 2-inch casters. In the center of the double brace, bore a hole 2½ inches deep to accommodate the 1½-inch pipe used as an axle. Fasten a pipe flange around the hole and screw the threaded pipe into place.

The platform is made of two layers of 1-by-12-inch lumber. For each layer use four 4-foot lengths. Nail them temporarily to scrap lumber to form a 46-inch square. Inscribe a circle 23 inches in radius and cut out the curved ends with a coping saw. Then assemble the two platform plates using glue and 7-penny finishing nails, clinching the nails on the underside of the platform.

Make the center post of 4-by-4-inch lumber, 22 inches long, tapering it to 2 inches at the top and slotting the top to accommodate the decorative discs. Drill a hole in the lower end of the post, ⅛ inch larger than the pipe axle and about ½ inch longer than the pipe extension. The discs are made 10 inches in diameter, as shown, and are glued in place.

The platform separators are of 1-by-12-inch lumber, dowel-jointed to the center post, rounded at the outside end and trimmed at the joints with quarter-round molding. Fasten the center post and the separators in place from below with No. 12 woodscrews 3 inches long.

Sand the project smooth and round all sharp edges. Finish in attractive colors with enamel.

Youth Admits Slaying Aunt

Flies Into Frenzy When Asked To Go

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y. (AP)—A stocky eighth-grader has admitted the frenzied slaying of his 23-year-old aunt, mother of two children.

Police said Richard C. Mazziotti, 14, told them he killed Mrs. Mary Lou Wright, a slender brunette, "because of a sudden urge I can't explain."

The boy's father Novie Mazziotti, brother of the slain woman, found Mrs. Wright's body late Saturday night in her basement apartment, which showed signs of a terrific battle. Her children Robert Jr., 5, and Michael, 3, were asleep and unharmed.

Authorities said Richard had battered Mrs. Wright with a large soda bottle, a lamp, a power paint sprayer and a large jar with an electric cord. Then, they said, he stabbed her repeatedly with a carving knife and twisted the cord around her neck.

Mrs. Wright's husband Robert, 26, was on a weekend hunting trip. He is employed by the sanitation department of this Long Island community.

Richard visited his grandmother Mrs. Jennie Mazziotti, 60, Saturday evening and then called on his aunt. He watched television while Mrs. Wright, dressed in a housecoat, rested in a bedroom.

Tow Line Breaks

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Scraps of a $100,000 derrick barge owned by the D. A. Dyche Salvage Co. were washed ashore from Lake Erie after the tow line had parted and the tug's engines stalled on a voyage to Rocky River from Sandusky. A Coast Guard whaleboat removed Capt. Davis A. Dyche, 31, of Lakewood and his mate, Joseph Amberik Jr., 21, of Cleveland. Heavy seas, however, prevented towing the tug, which was left at anchor north of here.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Wishful Thinking Needs Real Action

Let's take some warming up gymnastics — mental gymnastics. The first hurdle is the mental one. When you make that important inner decision to reduce, you follow through. There is a thread that runs through all the success letters to this effect: "I finally made up my mind."

Ida Jean Kain

One reader wrote this line: "I would be delighted to lose weight — I have 40 pounds more than I need." Well, any overweight would be delighted to lose the burden of fat. But that is merely wishful thinking.

To change wishful thinking to creative thinking, start visualizing what you want. Imagination is one of the most powerful forces in human nature — and stretching the imagination is the best kind of exercise to apply to streamlining.

IMAGINATION is nothing more or less than creating a mental picture and focusing it vividly on your inner thought track, the part of the mind which psychologists call the subconscious. The subconscious in turn tends to create the image on which you concentrate.

If you've never given much thought to the fascinating mysteries of the mind and the power of the subconscious, you may be skeptical of all this. William James, the father of psychology, said that the greatest discovery in a hundred years is the discovery of the power of the subconscious mind.

The important thing to realize about this deeper part of the mind is that you must give the order and expect it to be carried out. Here is where will and determination enter the picture for, to be effective, the order must be a strong desire, not a fleeting wish.

Apply psychology. Tonight as you are drifting into sleep, picture yourself as you truly want to be. Follow through by giving yourself this mind-set: Say to yourself, "Tomorrow I will be eager to follow through with a scientific plan of eating to slim down. This is it!"

IN THE MORNING, wake up and s-t-r-e-t-c-h. Later, when you ease through streamliners, see your waistline slimming down.

In short, when you concentrate your thinking on the rewards, reducing is not only possible, but you'll want to eat to achieve your goal.

Mingo Junction Man Dies As Result Of Joke

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Clarence L. Glatz, 57, died Saturday of a gunshot wound in the abdomen.

Two teen-aged youths admitted pinning an obscene note on the neighbor's front door.

Noted Doctor Dies

HARLOWTON, Mont. (AP)—Dr. Edward M. Gans, 82, named by the American Medical Assn. in 1956 as General Practitioner of the Year, died Sunday. Dr. Gans, also named the nation's outstanding Catholic doctor in 1956, practiced in this ranching town from 1929 until two months ago.

Chop parsley and chives (or the tops of green onions) fine and add with minced fresh or crushed dry tarragon to mayonnaise. Wonderful with lobster for a salad.

Service Is Disrupted In Freight Derailment

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Wrecking crews worked through the night to restore service disrupted by a freight train derailment about 15 miles east of Columbus in Licking County. No one was injured in the accident Sunday.

Twelve empty boxcars and seven tank cars near the front of a Pittsburgh-to-St. Louis Pennsylvania Railroad freight were involved. Seventeen went off the track and the other two were smashed. Five tracks—about 400 feet in all—were ripped up.

Using a dowel-hole guide, drill holes in the ends of the outer base members to accommodate a ½-inch dowel; two dowels to each joint. Glue the outer rim together and before the glue has set, insert the cross braces and nail through the rim into the braces with 16-penny common nails.

Bore holes in the centers of the upper edges of each rim piece to accommodate 2-inch casters. In the center of the double brace, bore a hole 2½ inches deep to accommodate the 1½-inch pipe used as an axle. Fasten a pipe flange around the hole and screw the threaded pipe into place.

The platform is made of two layers of 1-by-12-inch lumber. For each layer use four 4-foot lengths. Nail them temporarily to scrap lumber to form a 46-inch square. Inscribe a circle 23 inches in radius and cut out the curved ends with a coping saw. Then assemble the two platform plates using glue and 7-penny finishing nails, clinching the nails on the underside of the platform.

Make the center post of 4-by-4-inch lumber, 22 inches long, tapering it to 2 inches at the top and slotting the top to accommodate the decorative discs. Drill a hole in the lower end of the post, ⅛ inch larger than the pipe axle and about ½ inch longer than the pipe extension. The discs are made 10 inches in diameter, as shown, and are glued in place.

The platform separators are of 1-by-12-inch lumber, dowel-jointed to the center post, rounded at the outside end and trimmed at the joints with quarter-round molding. Fasten the center post and the separators in place from below with No. 12 woodscrews 3 inches long.

Handles may be added to the ends of the separators, as shown, if desired.

Sand the project smooth and round all sharp edges. Finish in attractive colors with enamel.

Youth Admits Slaying Aunt

Flies Into Frenzy When Asked To Go

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y. (AP) —A stocky eighth-grader has admitted the frenzied slaying of his 23-year-old aunt, mother of two children.

Police said Richard C. Mazziotti, 14, told them he killed Mrs. Mary Lou Wright, a slender brunette, "because of a sudden urge I can't explain."

The boy's father Novie Mazziotti, brother of the slain woman, found Mrs. Wright's body late Saturday night in her basement apartment, which showed signs of a terrific battle. Her children Robert Jr., 5, and Michael, 3, were asleep and unharmed.

Authorities said Richard had battered Mrs. Wright with a large soda bottle, a lamp, a power paint sprayer and a large jar with an electric cord. Then, they said, he stabbed her repeatedly with a carving knife and twisted the cord around her neck.

Mrs. Wright's husband Robert, 26, was on a weekend hunting trip. He is employed by the sanitation department of this Long Island community.

Nassau County authorities pieced together this account of the slaying:

Richard visited his grandmother Mrs. Jennie Mazziotti, 60, Saturday evening and then called on his aunt. He watched television while Mrs. Wright, dressed in a housecoat, rested in a bedroom.

She asked Richard to leave and he refused, flying into a frenzy.

After the attack, he slipped from the apartment, eluding his grandmother. She had become worried when no one answered her call at the Wrights' apartment, which is beneath hers.

Tow Line Breaks

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Scraps of a $100,000 derrick barge owned by the D. A. Dyche Salvage Co. were washed ashore from Lake Erie after the tow line had parted and the tug's engines stalled on a voyage to Rocky River from Sandusky. A Coast Guard whaleboat removed Capt. Davis A. Dyche, 31, of Lakewood and his mate, Joseph Amberik Jr., 21, of Cleveland. Heavy seas, however, prevented towing the tug, which was left at anchor north of here.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Wishful Thinking Needs Real Action

Let's take some warming up gymnastics — mental gymnastics. The first hurdle is the mental one. When you make that important inner decision to reduce, you follow through. There is a thread that runs through all the success letters to this effect: "I finally made up my mind."

Ida Jean Kain

One reader wrote this line: "I would be delighted to lose weight — I have 40 pounds more than I need." Well, any overweight would be delighted to lose the burden of fat. But that is merely wishful thinking.

To change wishful thinking to creative thinking, start visualizing what you want. Imagination is one of the most powerful forces in human nature — and stretching the imagination is the best kind of exercise to apply to streamlining.

IMAGINATION is nothing more or less than creating a mental picture and focusing it vividly on your inner thought track, the part of the mind which psychologists call the subconscious. The subconscious in turn tends to create the image on which you concentrate.

If you've never given much thought to the fascinating mysteries of the mind and the power of the subconscious, you may be skeptical of all this. William James, the father of psychology, said that the greatest discovery in a hundred years is the discovery of the power of the subconscious mind.

The important thing to realize about this deeper part of the mind is that you must give the order and expect it to be carried out. Here is where will and determination enter the picture for, to be effective, the order must be a strong desire, not a fleeting wish.

Apply psychology. Tonight as you are drifting into sleep, picture yourself as you truly want to be. Follow through by giving yourself this mind-set: Say to yourself, "Tomorrow I will be eager to follow through with a scientific plan of eating to slim down. This is it!"

Get enthusiastic about banishing the burden of fat. A strong desire and a lively interest are an unbeatable combination.

IN THE MORNING, wake up and s-t-r-e-t-c-h. Later, when you ease through streamliners, see your waistline slimming down.

In short, when you concentrate your thinking on the rewards, reducing is not only possible, but you'll want to eat to achieve your goal.

Mingo Junction Man Dies As Result Of Joke

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Clarence L. Glatz, 57, died Saturday of a gunshot wound in the abdomen.

Police said the shooting in nearby Mingo Junction resulted from a neighborhood argument started by a teen-ager's prank.

Glatz, wounded Thanksgiving Day, died in Ohio Valley Hospital. Police held a 69-year-old neighbor who they say shot Glatz with a .38-caliber pistol.

Two teen-aged youths admitted pinning an obscene note on the neighbor's front door.

Noted Doctor Dies

HARLOWTON, Mont. (AP)—Dr. Edward M. Gans, 82, named by the American Medical Assn. in 1956 as General Practitioner of the Year, died Sunday. Dr. Gans, also named the nation's outstanding Catholic doctor in 1956, practiced in this ranching town from 1929 until two months ago.

Chop parsley and chives (or the tops of green onions) fine and add with minced fresh or crushed dry tarragon to mayonnaise. Wonderful with lobster for a salad.

Service Is Disrupted In Freight Derailment

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Wrecking crews worked through the night to restore service disrupted by a freight train derailment about 15 miles east of Columbus in Licking County. No one was injured in the accident Sunday.

Twelve empty boxcars and seven tank cars near the front of a Pittsburgh-to-St. Louis Pennsylvania Railroad freight were involved. Seventeen went off the track and the other two were smashed. Five tracks—about 400 feet in all—were ripped up.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Mom's More Persuasive If She Speaks Softly

As any one knows, the tiny infant is a tender little thing. Its ear drums are battered with many loud, sharp sounds, including the sounds of human voices in the family. I wish I could prevail on the young mother to consider this and try to speak more softly than she usually does to her infant and young child.

By Garry Meyers

As a rule, when she speaks to him, she is very close to him. She does not need to talk loud or pitch her voice high for him to hear her. Besides, he will feel so much happier and more serene when she speaks in gentle tones.

WHEN SHE uses soft tones while speaking to him, or to others in his presence, she should make it a point to speak distinctly. This practice, indeed, should help her to develop a more pleasant speaking voice.

What can make a person more lovely anywhere, any time, than a clear, soft, low - pitched voice? Having this, what a much more delightful atmosphere she can create in the family!

The mother, like other older members of the family, is inclined to speak more loudly when TV or radio is on. She has to use more energy to be heard above the din. Annoyed with the competition by other sounds, her vocal cords tighten up and her tone rises higher, sounds more shrill. Then, too, when she feels weary, frustrated or annoyed, her voice tends to become more screechly.

AWARE OF these facts, she has reason to strive harder to watch her voice at such times in order to control it.

When the baby grows to be two, three or older, or if there is an older child in the family, there will be times when this older child needs restraint or annoys her by his disobedience. If she has not worked out a good system for making him mind, she will find herself repeating No! and saying it more loudly and shrilly each time.

So anything the mother, with the help of the father, can do to manage the child with the least possible annoyance to her, should make it easier for her to keep her voice pleasant.

She can be more persuasive when she tries to win the little child's cooperation if she speaks to him in quiet tones. She can make her commands more powerful when they need to be uttered just once, in normal tones.

Let me entreat young mothers reading this to resolve to discipline themselves to speak softly to the baby and young child in the family and thus to cultivate a lovely voice for all occasions.

My bulletin "Enjoying Our Children" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Explosion Rips Church Minutes After Services

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Worship services were over and the last of 51 members of the congregation had left little First Baptist Church Sunday.

That was at 11:35 a.m.

At 11:40 a.m., a boiler exploded in a furnace room at the rear of the building. Parts of the brick building were hurled 200 feet as the south end was blown out.

The Rev. Paul White, minister, was leaving with his family. They escaped injury, despite an estimated $10,000 damage to the building. Three lay officials also were uninjured. They were counting the offering—at the opposite end of the church.

Officials said it apparently was an accident. The church is north of here on U. S. 23.

Ohio Woman Killed

NEW STANTON, Pa. (AP)—A young Ohio housewife, 22-year-old Shirley Freeman of Columbus, was killed Sunday in a collision five miles south of here on icy Pennsylvania 31. Her husband Henry, 26, is in satisfactory condition in a hospital. The three occupants of the other car were not hurt.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Mom's More Persuasive If She Speaks Softly

As any one knows, the tiny infant is a tender little thing. Its ear drums are battered with many loud, sharp sounds, including the sounds of human voices in the family. I wish I could prevail on the young mother to consider this and try to speak more softly than she usually does to her infant and young child.

By Garry Meyers

As a rule, when she speaks to him, she is very close to him. She does not need to talk loud or pitch her voice high for him to hear her. Besides, he will feel so much happier and more serene when she speaks in gentle tones.

WHEN SHE uses soft tones while speaking to him, or to others in his presence, she should make it a point to speak distinctly. This practice, indeed, should help her to develop a more pleasant speaking voice.

What can make a person more lovely anywhere, any time, than a clear, soft, low - pitched voice? Having this, what a much more delightful atmosphere she can create in the family!

How much she can do to cultivate quiet, lovely, well - articulated speech in the child and his playmates, even in other members of the family!

The mother, like other older members of the family, is inclined to speak more loudly when TV or radio is on. She has to use more energy to be heard above the din. Annoyed with the competition by other sounds, her vocal cords tighten up and her tone rises higher, sounds more shrill. Then, too, when she feels weary, frustrated or annoyed, her voice tends to become more screechly.

AWARE OF these facts, she has reason to strive harder to watch her voice at such times in order to control it.

When the baby grows to be two, three or older, or if there is an older child in the family, there will be times when this older child needs restraint or annoys her by his disobedience. If she has not worked out a good system for making him mind, she will find herself repeating No! and saying it more loudly and shrilly each time.

So anything the mother, with the help of the father, can do to manage the child with the least possible annoyance to her, should make it easier for her to keep her voice pleasant.

She can be more persuasive when she tries to win the little child's cooperation if she speaks to him in quiet tones. She can make her commands more powerful when they need to be uttered just once, in normal tones.

Let me entreat young mothers reading this to resolve to discipline themselves to speak softly to the baby and young child in the family and thus to cultivate a lovely voice for all occasions.

My bulletin "Enjoying Our Children" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Explosion Rips Church Minutes After Services

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Worship services were over and the last of 51 members of the congregation had left little First Baptist Church Sunday.

That was at 11:35 a.m.

At 11:40 a.m., a boiler exploded in a furnace room at the rear of the building. Parts of the brick building were hurled 200 feet as the south end was blown out.

The Rev. Paul White, minister, was leaving with his family. They escaped injury, despite an estimated $10,000 damage to the building. Three lay officials also were uninjured. They were counting the offering—at the opposite end of the church.

Officials said it apparently was an accident. The church is north of here on U. S. 23.

Ohio Woman Killed

NEW STANTON, Pa. (AP)—A young Ohio housewife, 22-year-old Shirley Freeman of Columbus, was killed Sunday in a collision five miles south of here on icy Pennsylvania 31. Her husband Henry, 26, is in satisfactory condition in a hospital. The three occupants of the other car were not hurt.

Chicago Slaying Described

Woman, Ex-Convict Held In Insurance Murder Plot

CHICAGO (AP)—A mother of three and her ex-convict boy friend are charged with murdering her husband in what police described as a plot to collect a double indemnity insurance policy.

Police said 23-year-old Richard Lansing, whose criminal record began when he was 15, admitted shooting Peter Saisi, 30, in the head as the insurance agent lay pleading on the basement floor of his West Side home the night of Oct. 27.

Lansing said, according to police, that he shot Saisi at the woman's instigation for part of a $12,000 double indemnity insurance policy and Saisi's 1958 model car.

Earlier, Mrs. Saisi told calmly that she had plotted with Lansing on robbing her husband because Lansing needed money. But she insisted she never suggested the killing.

After Saisi was killed, Mrs. Saisi told police he was shot by two Negroes who broke into and robbed her husband's basement office. She aided a police artist in drawing sketches of the two men.

Police said they were skeptical. They couldn't understand why robbers would take only $180 from Saisi's pockets, leave an expensive watch and order Mrs. Saisi upstairs as she claimed. Robbers would have forced her to remain in the basement, they theorized.

In recent weeks, the investigation turned up numerous reports that the woman and Lansing had frequented neighborhood taverns together.

Both were arrested Saturday. Police found in Lansing's car a .25-caliber automatic. Ballistics tests showed it matched with the slug taken from Saisi's head, they said.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

Appointments Due As DiSalle Turns Host

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The political capital of Ohio shifts to Toledo tonight and Tuesday as Gov.-elect Michael V. DiSalle plays host to newspapermen and Democratic party leaders.

It is probable the governor-elect will announce one or more of his choices for top appointive state posts in the new administration which takes office Jan. 12.

Tuesday the governor-elect will be host at a downtown hotel to the 88 Democratic county chairmen, the 46 members of the party's state central and executive committee and the 100 members of the state executive committee.

This group will meet the newly elected Democratic state officials and Ohio's nine Democratic congressmen.

In an afternoon session, patronage will be the main topic. Other matters will be discussed at a dinner meeting.

Tobin Attends Session Of Democratic Group

Atty. Paul Tobin, vice chairman of the Columbiana County central and executive committees, left today to attend a meeting of Democratic officials Tuesday at the Secor Hotel in Toledo.

Tobin will represent county Democrats in the absence of Don R. Gosney, county chairman, who is in Europe.

Snow Delays Selection Of Pastor At Clarkson

Scheduled selection of a new student pastor for the Clarkson Presbyterian Church Sunday was postponed when services were canceled because of snow-clogged roads. A congregational meeting will be held following services Sunday at 10:45 a. m.

A new student pastor is to be chosen from the Western Theological Seminary at Pittsburgh to replace James Gardner, who has accepted a post with a Pittsburgh church.

Hancock Forwards 3 For Induction In Draft

A New Cumberland youth and two others from Weirton left this morning for duty with the armed services after volunteering for the Army earlier, Selective Service Board 34 at Weirton reported.

The trio includes John William Mercer of New Cumberland, and Richard Yount Solomon and Paul Edward Lemley, both of Weirton. They will serve two years, the board said.

But Watch The Holes

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Someday radiation exposure cards will become as much a fixture of wallets and purses as social security cards and drivers' licenses, a meeting of general practicioners was told. Dr. William G. Myers, professor of medical biophysics, said the cards could be similar to meal tickets with squares to punch out for each exposure, such as an X-ray treatment.

We're Sorry, Lady

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A woman visitor from St. Louis, just in from the airport, told the hotel clerk that she had left her purse in a cab. But at least I know the name of the driver," she said. "It was William Thien." The clerk explained unhappily that Thien is the police inspector who signs the cabbies' ID cards.
